Senate Votes Final Okay To Draft Bill, Sets Up UMT Program Machinery

Washington (AP)—The Senate yesterday stamped its final approval on a bill to extend the draft until mid-1955 and set up the mechanics for a permanent Universal Military Training program.

Passage of the compromise measure, affecting the lives of millions of young Americans, was by voice vote.

The bill, which had been worked out in a Senate-House conference committee, now goes to the House for scheduled action next week.

Major provisions of the legislation call for:

One—Reduction of the draft age from 19 to 18½, but no draft board may induct men under 19 until it has exhausted its pool of eligible men between 19-26.

Two—Increasing draft service from 21 to 24 months.

Three—Authority for the President to call reservists for 24 months of active duty, until July 1, 1953. It would allow inactive reservists, veterans of World War Two, to be released within 17 months.

Four—Reduction of mental standards from a score of 70 to 65 on the mental qualification test—to bring in an estimated 150,000 4-Fs—and lowering of physical standards back to the level of Jan. 1, 1945.

Five—Leaving the authority to defer students up to the draft boards, but men who get occupational deferments would be liable for induction up to the age of 35. The bill also sets a 5,000,000 ceiling on the armed forces.

Senate passage came after Senator McCarthy (R-Wis.) announced that if the bill had come to a roll call vote, he would have voted against it because of what he termed the policies of Secretary of State Acheson.

The Wisconsin senator, a bitter critic of Acheson, said the State department was blocking the use of 600,000 Chinese Nationalist troops in the Korean war, and he told the Senate:

"As a result, only American boys are allowed to die on the battlefield in the fight against Communism."

Man Admits He Attacked Couples

Bowling Green, O. (AP)—A prominent veterinarian, who said he was influenced by uncontrollable sex desires, yesterday admitted attacks on three lovers' lane couples.

Sheriff Clarence Marsh announced an oral confession was sobbed out by Dr. James Bridenstine Jr., 34.

One girl suffered impaired vision, another may lose the sight of one eye. Both are receiving medical treatment.

Allies Inch Northward Into 'Iron Triangle'

Fresh Reds Pour South To Hold Line

Tokyo, Saturday (AP)—Allied troops blasted north inch by inch today into reinforced Reds standing before the "iron triangle" of Kumhwa-Chorwon-Pyongyang in North Korea.

Fresh Chinese troops poured south to bolster approaches to the key area from which roads radiate in every direction. It is vital to the Reds as a buildup area.

AP Correspondent Nate Polowetzky reported from Eighth Army that the buildup was south of the triangle and appeared to be defensive. An Allied armored force battled within 12 miles of the triangle's western corner. The base of the triangle is about 15 miles north of the 38th parallel, the apex 29 miles north.

The terrific drain on China's trained manpower for its ill-fated April and May offensive was emphasized by the U.S. Defense department in Washington. Red losses from mid-May to the end of the month were placed at 162,000. The figure embraced part of the second Red spring offensive. The Reds lost an estimated 75,000 men in the first one.

East of Yonchon on the road to Chorwon, the Reds withstood a tremendous air and artillery pounding and blocked all Allied efforts to advance. An American tank-infantry force reached just south of Yonchon but later withdrew after a sharp fight. About 1,800 Reds were reported concentrating northeast of Yonchon.

The toughest fight for the moment was around Yonchon, 12 miles below Chorwon, western anchor of the triangle. Yonchon is seven miles north of the 38th parallel and about 35 miles north of Seoul.

Another Allied force had to call on heavy artillery support in a push north of Hwachon toward Kumhwa, eastern anchor of the triangle.

Planes directed the fire of three artillery battalions against a force of 1,000 Reds north of Hwachon. Today's Eighth Army communiqué said the artillery caused "heavy enemy casualties."

Hwachon, 17 miles southeast of Kumhwa, is at the west end of Allied-won Hwachon Reservoir. Over at the east end of the 11-mile-long reservoir, a tank infantry force pushed into Yangu Friday.

American officers, a pooled dispatch said, had hoped that would close a trap on thousands of Chinese troops. But a high-ranking U. S. officer expressed belief the Chinese were successful in screening the withdrawal of their main body of troops.

The sun shone brightly today and muddy roads and trials that had hampered Allied vehicle movements were drying out. It also aided Red supply efforts.

Fifth Air Force pilots jumped on enemy supply columns last night and reported more than 110 enemy vehicles destroyed or damaged.

Carriers off both coasts, including the newly arrived Bon Homme Richard, sent fighter planes swarming over enemy lines in the central sector.

King George III

London (AP)—Diplomats attached to the Court of St. James said yesterday the health of King George VI is causing his physicians and family considerable anxiety. Buckingham palace doctors announced the ailing King is suffering from a small catarrhal inflammation of a lung-which chest specialists said is a slight form of pneumonia.

Sailor's Plans To Wed Cancer-Stricken Girl Interrupted By Trip Home To Comfort Mother

Atlanta, (AP)—Wedding plans of Tom Amburn and his cancer-stricken fiancée were interrupted yesterday when the young sailor had to fly home to his mother in Sioux Falls, S. D.

Amburn, engaged to marry pretty Betty Thompson, said his mother collapsed Thursday night while he talked with her over the telephone.

"The publicity upset my mother and she got such mixed-up reports back home," Tom said. "She heard we already were married and were traveling up there to see her."

Clifford Gilliam Receives Golden Deed Award At Pennsylvania Exchange Club Convention

Buck Hill Falls—Over 350 members of Pennsylvania Exchange clubs gathered at the Inn here yesterday for the first full day of their State Convention.

During a "model luncheon" in the afternoon District Governor Horace G. Walters presented the East Stroudsburg club's "Golden Deed" award to Clifford R. Gilliam.

This is the third year the award has been made. It is given to the person the club feels has done the most during the past year for Monroe county and East Stroudsburg.

Miss Coplon May Receive New Trial

Washington (AP)—The Washington conviction of Judith Coplon, former Justice department worker found guilty of spying for Russia, was unanimously upheld yesterday by the U. S. Court of Appeals.

But the court, splitting 2 to 1, said she must be given a new trial if it is established that FBI agents wiretapped her conversations with her attorney before and during her trial.

The Court of Appeals sent the case back to U. S. District court to find out whether the alleged wire tapping actually occurred.

If so, the court said, Miss Coplon "should be awarded a new trial at which the accused can be free of surreptitious interception of her telephone conversations with her counsel, and can enjoy the right of his effective assistance which is guaranteed by the Constitution."

The appeals court ruled the FBI's arrest of Miss Coplon, along with Valentin A. Gubitchev, a Russian, in New York March 4, 1949, was lawful.

"The incidental search of her purse and seizure of the incriminating documents were therefore not unlawful and the documents were properly received in evidence," the decision said.

Film Company Agrees To Terms

Washington (AP)—The Justice department yesterday announced that 20th Century-Fox Film Corp. has agreed to a complete separation of its motion picture production and distribution business and its ownership of local theaters.

Attorney General McGrath said that he and the corporation have agreed on the terms of a consent judgment along these lines which will wind up the government's anti-trust action against that company.

Its terms parallel previous consent judgments entered against RKO Paramount and Warner providing for divorcement of their film production and exhibition businesses.

Mr. Truman Enters Iran Oil Dispute

Tehran, Iran (AP)—President Truman took a hand personally yesterday in the British-Iranian oil dispute by sending letters to Premier Mohammed Mossadegh and Prime Minister Atlee reported to urge moderation on both sides.

The unusual move by the President indicated the extreme seriousness with which the U. S. Government views the oil crisis. The double-barreled appeal to London and Tehran made it apparent that, although the United States takes a neutral stand on the issue, it cannot remain indifferent to the tense situation here.

Although the contents of the Truman letters were not disclosed, they are reported to urge Iran to negotiate with Britain before moving further to take over the British-owned Anglo-Iranian Oil Co. and to express hope Britain will try to satisfy some of Iran's demands.

The President's letter to Mossadegh apparently offered no solid plan for the proposed negotiations.

CIO Gets Raise At Westinghouse

Pittsburgh (AP)—Negotiators for Westinghouse Electric Corp. and the CIO International Union of Electrical Workers yesterday agreed on a one-year contract extension, granting a nine-cent hourly pay raise to 51,000 workers.

The raise, retroactive to April 16, is subject to approval of government stabilization agencies.

The agreement prohibits, at least for another six weeks, the possibility of a nationwide strike by the union against Westinghouse.

Silent On Plans

Moscow (AP)—Soviet newspapers displayed prominently yesterday the news of the west's proposal for a Big Four foreign ministers' conference, but gave no indication the Russians will agree to go to Washington July 23.

Members of the "Golden Deed" award committee were Horace G. Walters, chairman; Gilbert Dunning, Thomas L. Kistler, John I. Lanterman, Newton C. Taylor Sr., Horace G. Walters, Horace R. Westbrook.

The East Stroudsburg High school band, under the direction of Clement Wiedmeyer, entertained Exchange members last night.

Two of the numbers were conducted by John Eaton, student director.

Main convention conference will be held today. Principal speakers will be National Exchange President D. Russell Bontrager; Fred P. Hare, State senator and chairman of the senate education committee.

Memorial services will be held at 2 p.m. and the annual business session will be held at 7 p.m. The festivities will wind up tonight with the annual Exchange ball.

1949 State Department Paper Described Formosa As Of No Special Military Significance

Washington (AP)—Secretary of State Acheson told senators yesterday the United Nations Army has won a powerful victory over Communism in Korea and upset Red "imperialist aims" throughout all Asia.

He said the Kremlin's plan to shake the free world with a quick and easy conquest in Korea has backfired and resulted instead in bringing the United Nations Allies closer together in the test of "collective security."

Acheson brought to the Senate Armed Services and Foreign Relations committees—studying the ouster of Gen. Douglas MacArthur—a fighting defense of administration war policies.

But he lost the first round when senators forced into the open a secret 1949 State department document which said the island of Formosa had "no special military significance" and its loss to Red China was expected.

The inquiry group overrode by a 15 to 9 vote Acheson's protests that the disclosure would provide Russia with propaganda material which would hurt the "Voice of America" program abroad.

General MacArthur and top-ranking military leaders have testified the Chinese Nationalist stronghold of Formosa has great value in the strategic defenses of the United States—and it must not be permitted to fall to Red China.

Acheson insisted the document—in the form of a memorandum—was sent to consular officers in December, 1949, as a move to guard U. S. prestige in case Formosa fell to the Reds.

He argued the U. S. policy toward Formosa had not changed from October, 1948, to June, 1950, despite the document. He said the policy in that period was to try to keep Formosa out of Red hands by diplomatic means rather than by military action.

"First of all," he told senators, "it was understood and agreed that Formosa has strategic importance so far as the United States was concerned."

He declared the document was sent out merely as guidance "to minimize the damaging effects to the United States of the possible fall of Formosa."

Acheson did not run into the barrage of questions expected from Republicans who have aimed at him most of the criticism of administration foreign policy. But this was because most of the day was consumed in debate about release of the Formosa document and direct questioning was limited. He will be questioned again today.

Questioned by Chairman Russell (D-Ga.) of the inquiry group, Acheson said the U. S. government has made no effort yet to get United Nations Allies to impose a naval blockade against Red China.

Adm. Forrest Sherman, chief of naval operations, has proposed a naval blockade as the next step after economic sanctions to shut off the flow of war goods to the Red armies.

Acheson said: "We have always felt that if we can get a very effective economic blockade, a naval blockade becomes much less important." He added the government has had "considerable success" in getting Allies to go along with the economic blockade.

Miss Truman Sees Beautiful Ireland

Cork, Ireland (AP)—Margaret Truman took her first look at Ireland from the deck of the liner America yesterday and pronounced it "a beautiful green."

The liner, and Miss Truman, are due in Southampton today by way of Le Havre. She will spend 10 days in Britain before going out to the Continent.

The cost-of-living adjustments would be made quarterly or semi-annually, based on changes shown by the Bureau of Labor Statistics index.

As with the present 10 per cent ceiling, the new standards would be permissive, not mandatory. Cost-of-living increases and "productivity" clauses would be bargained out between companies and workers, as at present.

The Wage board voted yesterday to consider productivity pay raises "and other types of deferred wage increases" next Monday.

Dean Acheson

Eric Johnston Proposes New Wage Formula

Washington (AP)—Stabilizer Eric Johnston has proposed a new wage formula pegging pay ceilings to living costs and permitting, for millions of workers, an immediate boost ranging up to 12½ per cent above the levels of January, 1950.

Responsible officials disclosed yesterday that Johnston has asked the Wage Stabilization board to stop handling individual disputes which may set wage precedents and wait until a general formula is adopted.

Wage control depends on extension of the mobilization act. It expires June 30 and may be revised. The wage ceiling now is 10 per cent above the levels of January, 1950.

Johnston's plan to replace the present limit on wage increases was unfolded by him at a closed meeting with the board Thursday, it was learned. It met disagreement on some particulars. It would:

One—Permit wages to rise by the same percentage as living costs since January, 1950. This would mean 10.5 per cent, under the old cost-of-living index.

Two—Permit increases of perhaps 2 per cent for gains in productivity—more output per worker. Such an increase would be allowed for 1950. This and the proposed cost-of-living increase add to 12½ per cent.

Three—Fix standards for the granting of additional increases in cases of "hardship and inequity."

The "productivity" increase would be allowed only if the employer certified that, first, there was a genuine step-up in production per man and, second, he would not seek a price increase based on the wage rise.

The cost-of-living adjustments would be made quarterly or semi-annually, based on changes shown by the Bureau of Labor Statistics index.

As with the present 10 per cent ceiling, the new standards would be permissive, not mandatory. Cost-of-living increases and "productivity" clauses would be bargained out between companies and workers, as at present.

Faces Murder Trial

Washington (AP)—Attorney General McGrath yesterday authorized a new murder trial in California for William E. Cook Jr., desperado who left a trail of death behind him on a hitch-hiking trip last January.

Baccalaureate Services For Three Schools

Three Monroe county high schools will hold their baccalaureate services this Sunday.

Rev. Norman P. Savage, pastor of First Baptist church, will give the East Stroudsburg High school baccalaureate address. The service will be held in East Stroudsburg Junior High school at 8 p. m.

He will discuss "Anchors for the Storm."

Rev. Garnet L. Zimmerman, pastor of Tannersville Lutheran church, will give the baccalaureate address at Pocono Township High school. The service will be held in the auditorium at 7:30 p. m.

His sermon topic will be "My Mark."

Wilson Named As Director

John R. Wilson, general secretary of the YMCA in Stroudsburg, has been elected to the board of directors of the Lehigh Valley Social Service exchange serving Monroe, Carbon, Lehigh, Pike, Northampton counties.

Miss Mary Stevens, executive secretary of Lehigh County Children's Aid society, was also elected to the board as a result of mail balloting by 78 member agencies of the exchange.

Re-elected were Mrs. Harold Gumble, Pike county; Weston M. Kelsey, Lehigh; Dr. Charles Rominger and Mrs. F. E. Weinland, Northampton county.

These directors will join the other 12 members of the board at the June 8 meeting which will be held in Palmerton.

At that time officers will be elected on presentation of the report of the nominations committee headed by Dr. Morris Greth, Muhlenberg College. Others on the committee are C. B. Altomare, executive director, Monroe County DPA; and Major Neil Hood, Salvation Army, Allentown.

Ex-Vice Consul Pleads Guilty To Taking Bribes

Wilkesboro, N. C. (AP) — John Wayne Clark Williams, former United States vice consul at Hong-Kong, China, pleaded guilty yesterday to three counts of accepting bribes to speed the entry of non-immigrant Chinese into the United States.

Federal District Judge Johnson J. Hayes sentenced the 26-year-old bespectacled defendant to six years in the Federal reformatory at Ashland, Ky.

The State department announced March 27 that Williams and three other employees of the U. S. Consulate at Hong Kong had been dismissed last December as homosexuals and that Williams had admitted taking bribes. His home is at Carboro, N. C. The government charged that he accepted $3,000 in U. S. currency for approving Chinese visas.

Ex-WAVE Heads Air Force Women

Washington (AP)—The Air Force has selected a former Navy WAVE officer, Miss Mary Jo Shelly of Bennington, Vt., to be director of the Women in the Air Force (WAF).

Miss Shelly will succeed Col. Geraldine P. May whose resignation for undetailed personal reasons was accepted on Monday.

Miss Shelly, who is now assistant to the president of Bennington College, will join the Air Force with the rank of colonel in mid-June.

Miss Shelly was among the first 12 WAVE lieutenants during the last war, from which she emerged

SHS Juniors Hold Outing After Exams

A hot sun beckoned students yesterday to the coolness of nearby streams, but unfortunately for most of them they had some important business to attend to first: final examinations.

As soon as Stroudsburg High school juniors had finished the last questions on their exams they hurriedly took off for Mountain Lake house in Marshalls Creek.

There the class began a round of activities planned for its annual end-of-the-year outing.

Stroudsburg High school seniors will take their turn next Thursday. They will also hold their class party at the Marshalls Creek resort.

Price War Continues But Cracks Noted

New York (AP) — Rock-bottom prices kept New York's big department store price war at fever heat yesterday.

Hordes of bargain hunters, jostling each other in eagerness to buy, cleaned out stocks of such articles as men's summer suits and small electrical appliances.

In several instances this caused a sudden reversal of the price cutting that had slashed several items by as much as 40 per cent since Monday.

Men's springweave suits, formerly priced at $49.50, had sold as low as $29.65 Thursday. Yesterday morning Macy's, Gimbel's and Bloomingdale's all reported stocks exhausted.

Then Bloomingdale's brought out a new supply. It restored the $49.50 price tag.

Hopalong Cassidy shirts for boys—originally $3.50—opened at $2.77 yesterday morning at Gimbel's.

By day's close they had climbed past the original price to $3.71.

It was understood this happened after Macy's had sold out.

But these were the exceptions to the general hot pace of the continuing price war in which Gimbel's yesterday reported a 60 per cent dollar volume increase over Thursday's sales.

When one store ran out of a popular brand of electric toaster that had sold at a 36 per cent reduction, it instituted similar cuts on another brand.

Frenzied scenes were enacted as the stores opened yesterday. Hundreds surging against barriers at entrances jockeyed for position in a mad scramble on stairways and escalators.

They jammed three and four deep around counters; they descended on clothing racks while harried clerks tried to fill their needs.

Some men bought three or four suits each.

There was one big difference in yesterday's battle of the retailers—prices held fairly steady at Thursday's lowest levels.

This was easily explained: Many prices had been cut to dealer's cost levels, and some slightly below that. And the stores showed little inclination to go beyond that point.

The pace of selling on the most popular articles seldom slackened. In an alcove near where Macy's was selling electric mixers at $26.59 against the manufacturer's set retail price of $46.50, cartons of the appliances were stacked to the ceiling. And store trucks arrived at intervals of 10 to 15 minutes with fresh supplies.

When the stock of Toastmasters (fixed price $23) was exhausted at a price of $14.72, Macy's and Gimbel's started selling General Mills automatic toasters, formerly priced at $22.95, for $14.57.

The close of business brought an announcement from Eversharp, Inc., that it was discontinuing deliveries to Macy's.

Replenishing of stocks could offer a problem for some stores. One buyer was quoted as saying the length of the price war "will depend on whether manufacturers choke off the supply of goods coming into New York."

These manufacturers were not happy when the United States Supreme court ruled retailers who did not sign fair trade agreements were not bound to observe retail prices set by the producers.

It was this ruling that Macy's seized upon in starting price cuts Tuesday on nationally-advertised, fixed-price merchandise. Gimbel's, which says "nobody undersells us," met or exceeded the Macy's cuts. Other big stores here followed suit, and the war was on.

Twin Borough High Schools Enter Names Of Princesses In Laurel Blossom Festival

Two more high school princesses were announced yesterday by the 1951 Laurel Blossom festival director, Walter Fossa. He also reported two other young women had entered the princess contest from employee groups in the county.

Contestants in the employee groups will have the snapshots they submit displayed in the E. A. Bell Insurance Co. window through courtesy of Harry M. Albert, manager of the firm. All contestants' photos will remain in the window until winners are selected for princess roles at the Laurel Blossom coronation ball in Shawnee inn on June 20.

Mrs. John Souders and Mrs. Leon Werley will unveil the honor roll.

Lost Boy, Four, Found In Woods

Warren, (AP) — State police found a missing four-year-old boy yesterday after combing a heavily wooded area here for 24 hours.

He is Dickie Hanold, son of Mr. and Mrs. Iva Hanold, of Clymer, N. Y. The Hanolds are visiting friends here.

Young Dickie disappeared Thursday. He was found wandering aimlessly in nearby Cherry Grove township.

Dickie's two brothers, Gary, nine, and Darwin, 12, disappeared after joining 300 other searchers but were found about four miles from the home of Barney Bailey where they are visiting.

Villains Never Fade
New York (AP) — Gen. Douglas MacArthur's tag line about old soldiers never dying has inspired the title of a melodrama at the old Knick Music hall on Second Ave. It is: "Old Villains never fade—they just die."

Mr. Fossa announced for the first time that tickets for the 1951 Coronation ball are ready for sale. Music will be provided by Tommy Tucker's band of the year.

Checks may be mailed to Mr. Fossa, care of Pocono Mountains Vacation Bureau, for tickets to the ball. They are $5 per person.

County Medical Society Presents Award To Mrs. Koehler

Recognition Given For Health Work

At the meeting of the Monroe county chapter of the American Red Cross to which she has given so many years of service, Mrs. LeRoy J. Koehler last night received an award for her contribution to the public health of Monroe county from the Monroe County Medical association.

Dr. Evan J. Reese, chairman of public relations of the medical group, in making the Benjamin K. Rush award at the county level, explained that it is given annually to an individual who, without remuneration, has contributed most to the health of the county.

"The recommendations of the county medical groups are considered in making the state-wide award, he said.

In his tribute to Mrs. Koehler, Dr. Reese mentioned her years as chairman of volunteer Red Cross nursing committee, as chairman of volunteer special services of the Red Cross since the early days of World War Two when they worked on nutrition, home nursing, nurses aid, and the production of medical supplies for the armed services, to the present when the volunteers contribute to the important blood donor program.

He also called attention to the fact that Mrs. Koehler is again serving as chairman of the nursing committee for the newly-organized Monroe County Organization of Public Health Nurses which has taken over the duties of the Red Cross Nursing group.

Mrs. Koehler has given, he said, unstintingly not only of her own time, energy and talent, but has also devoted to the public good her qualities of leadership that have enlisted the help of capable women in these projects from all groups in the county.

Mrs. Koehler in her acceptance speech said that she was grateful to the heritage of the past, to her husband and son who had encouraged her community work, and to the community itself for giving her the opportunity to serve. She recalled that her first community service here was as chairman of the nursing committee with the Red Cross.

Present to see her receive the award were Dr. Claus Jordan, Dr. Charlotte Jordan, of the Medical society, and Mrs. John Rumsey, of the auxiliary to the medical society.

George Robinson, Red Cross chapter chairman, presented Dr. Reese. LeRoy Mikels, who last year received not only the county but the Pennsylvania state award, was one of the Red Cross executive committee members present.

Money Donated To Amputee To Form Nucleus Of Million Dollar Fund To Help Limbless

Washington (AP)—The dollars and dimes that people sent to the first quadruple amputee of the Korean war are about to snowball into a million dollar foundation for the aid of the limbless.

It will be known as the Robert L. Smith foundation, in honor of the Middleburg, Pa., veteran who lost his arms and legs after being wounded and frozen at Chungjin reservoir last November and who wants his contributions used in this manner.

Church Mourns For Cardinal

Philadelphia (AP)—The Roman Catholic Diocese of Philadelphia began formal mourning yesterday for the late Dennis Cardinal Dougherty, the archbishop who died Thursday of a cerebral hemorrhage.

The first masses offered in the presence of the cardinal's body began early yesterday morning as he lay in state in the faculty chapel of St. Charles Borromeo Seminary in suburban Overbrook. Every half hour after dawn, five masses were said simultaneously, the first of thousands of memorial services to mark his passing.

During the day, preparations were begun at the Cathedral of St. Peter and Paul in downtown Philadelphia, for the funeral next Thursday. The building was draped in black, and decorations were stripped from the high altar of white marble, beneath which the cardinal's remains will be buried after the solemn pontifical mass of requiem.

Public viewing of the body will begin on Sunday, in the main St. Martin's chapel at the seminary. Viewing by members of the hose archdiocese, which includes more than a million Catholics in eastern Pennsylvania, church officials and lay dignitaries, will continue at the chapel on Monday and Tuesday.

Until the body is transferred to St. Martin's chapel on Sunday morning, it will remain in state on a bier in the faculty chapel, clothed in the full pontifical vestments, including the white mitre of the bishop, the purple robes and gloves of office, and the bishop's ring.

Tobey Report Made Public

Washington (AP)—Sharp criticism of the Reconstruction Finance Corp. (RFC) and the Baltimore and Ohio railroad was detailed yesterday in the publication of a four-year-old, never approved Senate document.

The document, a report that Senator Tobey (R-NH) unsuccessfully submitted to a Senate banking subcommittee in 1947, said the RFC hurt itself and violated the law in connection with the financing of an $80,000,000 loan to the railroad.

The subcommittee in 1947 voted not to adopt the report on a motion by Senator Fulbright (D-Ark). Fulbright said he submitted the motion of disapproval at the request of Senator Capehart (R-Ind), then chairman of the subcommittee.

"RFC fitted itself into the B. & O.'s scheme of things, allowed B. & O. to handle its funds in a way injurious to the RFC's own interest, but necessary to B. & O.'s plan for a reorganization in 1944, and by this course of conduct made itself an accessory before the fact to an unnecessary reorganization," the Tobey report said.

The Senate Banking committee voted to make the report public at this late date after much of it had leaked out and appeared in print. It will be exactly four years old July 25.

The RFC-B&O loan came back into the news this week with Tobey's proposal that a new congressional investigation be undertaken by the subcommittee which has been looking into RFC lending policies, under the chairmanship of Senator Fulbright.

McCracken said money may also be withdrawn if needed for care of Smith's widowed mother.

"The family has been on public assistance for 12 years, and we are going to see that she doesn't go back on relief," McCracken said.

Streit told the Legion members Smith probably will remain in the hospital until the end of November. The war victim arrived the day before last Christmas.

"General Streit assured us Smith will walk again," McCracken said.

10,000 Attend Field Day At Sordoni Farms

Kingston — Several Monroe county families attended the annual grassland field day at Sordoni Sterling farms yesterday.

An estimated crowd of 10,000 gathered at the Harveys Lake farm, owned by former Sen. A. J. Sordoni.

Arthur E. Ifft, Monroe county farm agent, and 13 other county agents from northeastern Pennsylvania, planned and conducted the entire program.

It was the fourth in a series of five district grassland field days across the State and brought total attendance to date to 25,000.

State Extension Director J. M. Fry, one of a group of administrators from Pennsylvania State College, looking across the large crowd during brief speaking exercises at noon, observed:

"... you people must be seriously interested in this particular type of agriculture (grassland farming) which is adapted to Pennsylvania conditions."

Fry, who heads the grassland program in Pennsylvania, said the serious attitude evidenced by the large crowd was an indication the field day was serving its intended purpose as an educational event.

From start to finish, the day was a procession of many different activities, all of them related directly to better production and use of grass crops on the farm.

First 90-Degree Weather Of Year Heralds Arrival Of June, Summer Traffic

"June is busting out all over."

This is the way Michael F. Hannon, official Daily Record weather observer, described yesterday's perspiration-provoking weather.

The vivid results of a high pressure area—90-degree temperature, singing automobile tires on the soft, runny tar—turned the first day of June into a genuine pre-August heat wave.

Clubs Propose Concurrent Deer Season

Harrisburg, (AP) — A two-week concurrent buck and doe season in Pennsylvania this year was proposed yesterday as a solution to the deer over-population problem.

The proposal was suggested by Dale Furst, of Williamsport, president of the Pennsylvania Federation of Sportsmen's Clubs.

Furst made the suggestion at a public hearing held by the State Game commission to gather views for consideration in fixing 1951 game seasons and bag limits.

Furst told the commission it is generally agreed by most sportsmen that something has to be done to reduce the large deer herd to bring it in balance with the available food supply.

"Let's start with a big season on both bucks and does with no local option and see where we go," he urged.

Furst emphasized however that if the commission should find it more expedient to declare separate buck and doe seasons, his agency would prefer to have the deer season follow the buck season.

Last year, the commission fixed the two-day doe, or antlerless, season in advance of the regular buck season.

Rep. George E. Goodling (R-York), chairman of the House Game and Forestry committee, told the commission it was his considered view that a two-day separate doe season would be adequate this year to meet the deer herd reduction problem.

Sebring Is Speaker At Graduation

Walter H. Sebring, assistant county superintendent of schools, last night told members of Middle Smithfield school's eighth grade graduating class success in life consists in "making the most of the best that is in you."

He outlined a five-point formula for success:

"Learn to direct yourself, learn to make proper decisions, set up self-standards, cultivate your vision to see and develop your ability to do."

Convention Books Show Cash Balance

The recent Pennsylvania Lions State convention, held in the Pocono Mountains with headquarters in the Inn at Buck Hill Falls, was a financial as well as a social success, the convention committee was informed last night.

The committee met at the Stroudsburg municipal building, Chairman Harry J. Drennan of Barrett presiding, and all the clubs in the district, known as the host clubs, were represented. These are Stroudsburg, West End, Portland, Barrett, Pocono and East Bangor.

Bills were received and balances checked and, while all charges are not in as yet, Chairman Drennan said a cash balance, after all accounts are liquidated, seems assured. It is recognized that the staging and financing of a convention the size of this one is a gamble, and can conceivably financially handicap the host clubs for a long time.

The state issues a booklet containing a full report of all phases of the convention and the costs of this publication go against the convention funds. Chairman Drennan reported that even with this heavy expenditure, the clubs seem almost certain to make a little money.

Spending Month

June—month of roses, brides, and other nice things—also will be, if it runs true to form, a month of spectacular Federal spending.

Last year, for example, the Government spent about $2,962,000,000 in the 31 days of May. But, for 30 days of June, the figure was almost $4,296,000,000, of which $1,122,000,000 was spent on the month's last day.

The story was much the same in 1949: May spending, $3,104,000,000; June spending $4,579,000,000—and, of that, $1,216,000,000 on June 30.

D. A. Hulcy, president of the United States Chamber of Commerce, having checked still earlier records, says that each June since World War II has seen Federal outlays jump at least 4 per cent over the previous month.

And the reason, as he points out, is obvious.

Midnight of each June 30 marks the end of a Government fiscal year. It also marks the end of Government agencies' authority to spend money from their appropriations for that fiscal year.

The agencies, Mr. Hulcy says, want to get rid of money appropriated to them before the fiscal year ends, so they won't have to return anything to the Treasury.

Well, that tendency is understandable. For if the head of an agency spends less than he is authorized to spend in one fiscal year, Congress may tell him to get along with permanently smaller future appropriations.

But it's a tendency that results in a great deal of unnecessary spending.

Mr. Hulcy has expressed his hope that the coming June will be made a welcome exception—that all Federal agencies will "try hard to avoid increased spending not essential to national security, and will turn back to the Treasury as much as they can of their current appropriations."

That, considering the times and the tax rates, certainly is an entirely reasonable hope.

Color by Airwaves

While the time is not yet arrived when the householder can flip the switch of his television set and behold the wonders of the entertainment world in all the colors of the spectrum, that time is moved a bit closer by the Supreme Court decision upholding the color TV plans of one company.

But that does not mean the immediate arrival of color TV in this or any other city, since present sets designed for the reception of the more prosaic black and white images must be converted in order to receive color, and new sets built specifically for color reception are not generally to be found on the market.

The issue of color TV has been highly controversial, with charges and counter-charges involving not only the protagonists of the several systems but the Federal Communications Commission as well. Most of the ruckus has been purely academic, as far as the general public is concerned, for the average TV enthusiast, present or prospective, does not care a great deal who invented the process nor whose company puts it on the air, so long as the image comes to his screen with a minimum of blizzard effects and similar annoying phenomena.

The main point is that color TV is getting closer to us, however snail-like its pace. When one considers that despite the development of color in the movies the majority of films still arrive in black-and-white, there should be no annoyed irritation if color on TV is delayed a little longer.

The giant redwoods and other coniferous trees are evolutionally less advanced than the humble dandelions and sweet-peas.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

Jim Marshall tells the story of a night when a Santa Fe train pulled into the Oklahoma station of Wynoka, just after the Panhandle branch was opened. It was a bitter cold, stormy night, and the station agent was distressed to note that a motherly old soul who got off the train obviously didn't know which way to turn.

"I'll take you to the nearest inn myself, ma'am," he volunteered, and led her to a hostel where liquor was flowing freely and several poker and faro games were in progress. "I'm afraid it's noisy, ma'am," said the station agent, "but it's the only hotel in town, and I'm sure they'll make you comfortable, for, as a matter of fact, I'm part owner here. May I have your name please?" "You may," said the motherly old soul grimly. "It's Carry Nation."

On another branch of the Santa Fe, recalls Marshall, a circus train was stalled on a siding. Three elephants managed to get their trunks unnoticed into the tender tank, and used up all the water giving themselves a shower. The train was stalled—until an ingenious Hindu mahout named O'Reilly uncoupled the engine and made the elephants tow it three miles down the track to a water tower.

Hollywood

Hollywood—Amos 'n' Andy are getting set to retire.

In two more years, the stars of radio's oldest program will complete their contract with CBS. Then, quipped Freeman Gosden, who plays Amos and the Kingfish: "We'll get into wheelchairs and go—"

"Downhill!" broke in Charles (Andy) Correll, completing the gag.

But their show will go on—on television and radio—with other performers. Gosden and Correll are supervising the production of one half hour television film a week. The films, which have an all-Negro cast, are scheduled to go on the air late in June.

Actually, when they retire, "Amos" Gosden wants to travel and play golf. "Andy" Correll, who once practiced his father's trade of bricklaying, wants to get at a lot of chores around his home, like painting his five children's swings and back-yard merry-go-round.

Retirement will end 27 consecutive years of Negro comedy for the two white men. They went on Chicago's WGN as "Sam 'n' Henry" in January, 1926. Two years later they switched to WMAQ, in the same city, as "Amos 'n' Andy." The show went coast to coast on NBC in 1929.

The only broadcast they missed was when they were snowed in on a Maryland hunting trip. Bill Hay, then their announcer, filled in by reading biographies of them. Another time an operation for an infected nose didn't stop "Andy" Correll from doing the next night's broadcast. "Amos" Gosden, who used to suffer from migraine headaches, has broadcast when the pain was so intense he had to read his script with one eye. One time his watch failed him, and he lingered too long in a tailor shop. "Andy" went on alone, carrying on imaginatively phone conversations and doubling in his other character, Henry Van Porter. The sponsor wired "Amos" "Hope you had a successful fishing trip."

Fans have included the late Henry Ford, Sr., and Presidents Hoover, Roosevelt and Truman. Hoover told them jokes at the White House; FDR had them in for dinner.

"Amos" Gosden, now 52, is baldish, florid, still boyishly eager, and still speaks with the accent of his native Richmond, Va. Correll, 61, is likewise ruddy and has handsome silver hair. They met at the Elks Club in Durham, N. C., as employees of a Chicago firm that staged amateur shows.

These Days — By George E. Sokolsky

The American Friends Service Committee, the leading organization among the Quakers, has issued a pamphlet designed to encourage Americans to favor peace. The effort is, of course, redundant, as all Americans favor peace and hate war and some find themselves outraged that our administration in Washington, beginning in November 1943, so arranged the world that we now find ourselves in the third war since 1917.

However, in this pamphlet, "Steps To Peace," the Quakers say things that are incorrect almost to the point of being naive. For instance, let us take this paragraph for analysis:

"If ever weapons and power can give security, the United States should feel secure in 1951. We have the most favored geographical position of any nation in the world. We have the greatest and most highly developed industrial strength, the largest navy, the greatest stockpile of atomic weapons, and the greatest facilities for producing more.

Surely these elements should at least give us a greater sense of security than that enjoyed by the countries of Europe and Asia. Yet evidence points to the fact that the United States does not feel secure. Indeed, we have felt more insecure since the end of World War II than at any time within memory, despite the highest level of armaments in our peace-time history."

But the Quakers must know, from their faith if nothing else, that "weapons and power" cannot of themselves provide security. Nor is there any evidence that the United States possesses either superiority or even equality in weapons with Soviet Russia. Their air-fleet is larger; their submarine fleet is larger. We assume that they are stockpiling A-bombs, although we do not know with what success. We do know that so-called a pacifist and progressive scientists aided them in stealing our bomb plans and in lessening our advantage.

As to power, Soviet Russia controls a population of at least 800,000,000 as against our 150,000,000. In the Korean and French Indo-Chinese wars, Soviet Russia has demonstrated that international Communism functions as though it were one country, utilizing non-Russian forces, whereas the United States in the Korean War has been forced to provide 90 percent of the forces and General Eisenhower is encountering increasing difficulty in finding divisions for developing an adequate army for the defense of Western Europe. In fact, a tendency appears in many countries to find a road to neutrality, which imperils the United States and not Russia.

Against Russia's own 175 divisions—not counting the Chinese and other satellites—the most the United States and Western Europeans can hope to offer is perhaps 40 divisions.

Where is this power the Quakers talk about?

But there is a further point in all this. The United States followed the leadership of such pacifistic groups as the Quakers and produced the United Nations, to which we are committed so definitely that we risk our sons in Korea in a futile campaign to satisfy United Nations policies. As General MacArthur and even his opponents have established, the Korean War cannot be won on the targetless formula designed by the United Nations. Yet, we pursue this policy because it is the formal concept of the administration that some other policy might wreck the United Nations.

There is no security in that, for Soviet Russia has taken every advantage of this decision to utilize the United Nations, not as a parliament of states but as a center of vicious intrigue and dishonest and profane propaganda against the United States. Each session of the Security Council is dreaded because such creatures as Vishinsky, Gromyko, Malik, and Katz-Suchy do and say things there which would at any time produce so violent a public reaction as to lead to war.

The Quakers, as everyone else, might just as well recognize that it takes two parties to maintain peace as to make war. Soviet Russia has been building a world empire to isolate the United States and, in time, to achieve our destruction. When World War II was over, the United States hurriedly disarmed and tried to assume a normal, peaceful existence; Soviet Russia built an army of 175 divisions and continued the war on many fronts.

We are faced by this appalling fact, and while men may differ as to what to do about it, the Quakers provide little guidance in these trying days.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Why Butchers Go Mad

"You are required by Section 3 of the regulations to apply the mark-up given in Table A to the most recent delivered cost before the effective date of regulations. The resulting amount will be the ceiling price. However, Section 3 (a) of each regulation provides that, with respect to each item of the 1950 pack of food commodity, Groups 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 32 and 33, under Table A, both retailers and wholesalers may continue to use the legal ceiling for each item under the General Ceiling Price Regulation if their last purchase was made prior to January 26. Of course the ceiling price for any item that falls under commodity Groups 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 32 and 33 which is purchased after January 26 must be figured by the provisions of these regulations."

Aristides Schwartz, our butcher was reading "Title 32A, Chapter 3, OPS." "Yes, but is that daylight saving?" he asked, scratching his head, "and suppose Wednesday comes twice that week and falls on Monday?"

"Table A is plainly the trouble spot," we suggested, always willing to help in a dilemma. "Anything can happen there and Section 3 (a) takes careful handling, especially in the short shank or brisket areas."

"What about Groups 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 32 and 33?" asked the butcher, looking at a cleaver with a certain violence of expression.

"That could be a football signal put in for purposes of bewilderment," we suggested. "The 8, 9, and 10 are familiar but I don't recall meeting 11, 12 and 13 up to the time the party broke up anyhow. Is everything clear?"

"What inning are we playing?" asked Schwartz, rolling back a lamb's tongue.

"Either 32 or 33," we said.

"Who's up?" demanded the butcher.

"Rib roast, and there may be a bunt. Call in the infield," we suggested.

"If before January 26, yes, otherwise no," said Schwartz. "But there is always the question of hamburger as of May 3, 4, 5, 6 and 7 minus April 10, 11, 13, 21 and 26, unless one of 'em falls on Sunday in which case I don't open."

"All right, I'll open on a small pair for one chip," we said.

"I'll raise you a couple of Commodities Groups," said Schwartz, "but the lady says she wants a T-bone. So what zone am I under CPR 25 OPS and how about a can of corn if my store differentials are what we think?"

"That brings us to Section 30. How To Determine Your Group. Groups 1 to 4 exclusive of 3B and 4B which have been called on account of darkness," we explained the best we could. "The whole thing could be simplified if you would close this meat store and open a fish market."

"In the halibut groups 8, 9, 10, 11 and 12," said the butcher, now quite mad, "or the soft-shelled crab groups 13 and 14 and 15?"

"I'll take shad roe in groups 13, 32 and 33 if caught prior to January 26, but not later than half past Friday of week before last," we said, too far gone ourself to be of any help.

The Pulitzer Prizes

There are 1772 daily newspapers in the United States and, roughly, about 12 Pulitzer Prizes in Journalism awarded each year. . . . Thus, by barest mathematical count, the chances are about 150 to 1 against any paper winning a Pulitzer Prize and, of course, much higher against any working reporter gaining such recognition.

But the laws of mathematics cease operation, quite remarkably, when it comes to the Pulitzer Awards. . . . There are 12 members on its advisory committee, and six of their reporters or publications got Pulitzer Prizes. That means the odds of a Pulitzer Award are about even money for papers or people represented on the Pulitzer Advisory Committee—and about 300 to 1 against those not represented. . . . In this reporter's opinion, it represents—about 10,000 to 1—that a shocking favoritism is being shown.

For example, after stating that the Advisory Board does not make any award "to an individual member," the Board proceeded to do exactly that in these left-handed words: "whereas the outstanding instance of national reporting in 1950 was Arthur Krock's obtaining of an exclusive interview with the President, be it resolved that the Board make no award in the national reporting category." . . . In short, the Advisory Board declared Board Member Krock first, with no seconds, and, with tongue in cheek, then announced it had made no award at all. . . . That's worse than bad judging. It isn't even good reporting of the Board's own activities.

Whether or not an exclusive handout is a Pulitzer Prize winner is debatable. All Krock had to do was go over and pick up a story that the President wanted printed. . . . Being the President's favorite "outlet, however, doesn't necessarily mean a man is a Pulitzer Prize reporter, any more than Harry Vaughn's ability to coax two stars out of the Presi-tried their best to do away with him. They sent messengers inviting him to meet them to discuss matters with him, but he was wise and sent word that he could not come to such a meeting because he was too busy. He knew that these foes wished to meet him alone and that they would kill him.

Then came the day of triumph, the work was finished and all the people gathered together in the street before the water gate, and they asked Ezra, the scribe, to bring the book of the law of Moses.

Ezra brought the book and he and others read the law to the listening people, and they were all attentive and the laws were explained to them.

After that the people were told to obtain olive branches, pine branches, palm branches and the branches of thick trees and make themselves booths, and sit in the booths and eat and drink and be merry.

Later there was a great revival when, after fasting, the people dressed themselves in sackcloth and confessed their sins and promised to cleave to the Lord and to do His will.

Among the enemies who harassed the Jews in their building of the walls of the city was, Geshem of Arabia, which is a coincidence, because today the people of Israel and the Arabs are enemies.

Memory Verse — "They that wait for Jehovah shall renew their strength; they shall mount up with wings as eagles; they shall run, and not be weary; they shall walk, and not faint."—Isaiah 40:31.

The fact is that if Arthur Krock wanted to honorably carry out the current traditions of the Pulitzer Prizes, he should have nominated Mr. Truman for the Music Pulitzer, in return for Mr. Truman earning him the Journalism one.

In the very next resolution, moreover, the Special Advisory Board gave Cyrus K. Sulzberger a special citation for his exclusive interview with Archbishop Stepinac. There is absolutely no connection between Arthur Krock and Cyrus K. Sulzberger except that Cyrus Sulzberger's uncle is Arthur Krock's boss on the N. Y. Times, and absolutely no connection between Columbia University and the Sulzbergers except that Mr. Arthur Hayes Sulzberger, publisher of the N. Y. Times, is one of Columbia's trustees who make the Award.

What a wonderful feeling it gives a fellow to hear somebody say something good about our present times!

Have you noticed how it has become the fashion to criticize and carp?

Nothing is right any longer. The world is going to the dogs, we are told. Morality has almost reached bottom. There are corruption and graft. That's what we hear and read every day.

The home is a thing of the past. Family life is disrupted.

One would almost believe that this is not the United States of America but Sodom and Gomorrah.

Davies has made a thorough study of the American home and family. That is his business.

He tells us to stop worrying about the "four D's"—divorce, desertion, discord, delinquency.

He warns against taking STATISTICS as FACTS without knowing the story behind the statistics.

Divorce figures, for instance, are usually given in relation to the number of marriages for the same year. But that is not an accurate picture.

The number of divorces for a given year are not broken marriages that were contracted in the same year.

As an example Davies cited the divorce rate for 1946—eighteen divorces for every thousand marriages.

Most of the delinquency of juveniles occurs in families that still have the old-fashioned ideas about the place of children in the home.

Modern parents realize that times and customs change. The development of the human being begins with an early age. The mother or father who expects his son or daughter to fit into the mold of a past generation must expect trouble.

Delinquency comes not only from neglect but from trying to stop progress.

Child education is one thing. Adult education is another.

Adult education, according to Davies, must consist of a better understanding of human relations, of social and economic changes, of MODERN LIVING.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Rosso Jr.

Miss Elizabeth Walter Is Bride Of Joseph Rosso Jr.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis B. Walter, of East Stroudsburg, announce the marriage of their granddaughter, Elizabeth Walter, to Joseph Rosso Jr., son of Joseph Rosso Sr., and the late Mary Rosso, of East Stroudsburg.

Rev. Francis G. Barrett, assistant pastor of St. Matthew's Roman Catholic church performed the double ring ceremony and celebrated the nuptial mass at 9 o'clock Saturday morning, May 26.

Mrs. Catherine Hannas played the organ and the altar was decorated with white carnations, gladioli, and pink and white snap dragons.

The bride wore a navy blue gabardine suit with white accessories and a white orchid corsage.

Mrs. Bernard Rosso who served as matron of honor, chose a navy blue gabardine suit with pink accessories and an orchid corsage.

M/Sgt. Bernard Rosso, who is stationed at Camp Atterbury, Ind., served as his brother's best man.

The bride's grandmother wore a navy blue print dress with navy blue top and matching accessories and a corsage of orange roses.

A wedding breakfast was served to the bridal party at the new home of the newlyweds. A three-tier wedding cake surmounted by a miniature bride and groom and tiny bells was the main table decorations. Mr. and Mrs. Rosso are now at home in their new house on Phillips St., Stroudsburg.

Mrs. Rosso is a graduate of East Stroudsburg High school and is employed at the Bell Telephone Co. Mr. Rosso is a veteran of World War II and saw action as a T/Sgt. in the medical with the 24th division in the Pacific theatre. He is employed at the Art Metal Works.

Bible School Faculty Is Announced

Plans have been completed for the interdenominational Daily Vacation Bible school which will be held at the Fifth Street Mission from June 11 through 22.

There will be classes from beginners through the intermediate classes, and a transportation system has been set up to care for those from the Monroe Carbon trail section. A station wagon will pick up the children at Baylor's store, North Ninth St., and at Fifth and Main Sts. Parents who have not arranged transportation may call 2161-R.

The faculty has also requested that mothers sending pre-school children to the beginner's department attach a slip with their name, address, age, date of birthday and their parents' names. It was also announced that Clearview school children who have school on June 11 will not be counted absent if they are unable to be present for that first day.

Teachers in the various departments are as follows:

Beginners: Mrs. Marion Serfass, Mrs. Sebring, Miss Elaine Koehler, Mrs. Aaron Strohmeier, Miss Lauretta Altmeier and Mrs. James Marsh.

Primary: Mrs. J. R. Cairns, Mrs. J. Albert, Mrs. Betty Miller, Mrs. J. Hazen.

Hospital, Blood Program, Servicemen Keep Local Red Cross Chapter Active

The Monroe county chapter of the American Red Cross held its regular executive meeting at headquarters last night following the ceremony of the presentation of the medical society award to one of its members, Mrs. LeRoy Koehler.

Mrs. Koehler, having caught her breath, reported that during the month of May 61 volunteers had given 813 and three-quarters hours of service, with the General hospital receiving more than 618 of those hours and the blood bank 195 hours of service. The Grey Lady service gave the largest numbers of hours with the canteen service next, and the registered nurses, staff aides, nurses aides, motor service and administration aids all helping with the volunteer special services during the month.

The service to servicemen and their dependents was also active during the month. Mrs. Ida B. Kunkle, executive secretary, showed in her report where 26 of the 30 cases during the month involved active service cases. Twenty telegrams, 9 long distance telephone calls were made on behalf of servicemen and their families; there were 21 home visits and 128 office calls. Nine transient veterans received help; and nine persons were referred to the used clothing room. There were 22 new cases and 25 interviews not considered as cases.

LeRoy Mikels reported on the status of the blood program in the county which to date has met all local needs as well as filled its quota for the military and for civilian defense.

George T. Robinson, chapter chairman, presided at the meeting and welcomed Arlington W. Williams, new vice chairman, to his first meeting.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

That smoke you see curling above the column is just me burning out my bearings. It was one of those nights when the typewriter got so hot it burned to the touch, when everything went wrong that could go wrong, and mislaid notes turned up in the most unlikely places.

However, guess we won't try living it over because it had its compensations. Met Mrs. Toni Maxwell and her daughter Rima back in the county, and learned that Rima has graduated from high school at fifteen with a scholarship to Mt. Holyoke and a medal from the French government for first prize in French.

Saw the cutest telegrams from Mrs. John A. LeBar and Jim enroute to see Ann in Seattle. Seems they wire every night what their destination will be the next day, and they got sort of confused and skipped over half the continent. Amzi and John were just getting out the Atlas to see how come when the second telegram arrived correcting the first one.

And puzzled all day over a cryptic remark on the outside of a letter to my husband that said "Quite wrong, it's the 25th". But I had to wait until he got home to find out that it was the Rev. Arthur Henderson who said inside he'd be here the 18th.

Anyway it's a comfort to learn that other people get confused too.

State Ends Biennium With Surplus

Harrisburg (AP)—Gov. John S. Fine said yesterday a new general fund surplus of $17,918,453 underlined the accuracy of his budget estimates for the next two years.

The Commonwealth's surplus for the two-year fiscal period ended Thursday represents the excess of revenue over expenditures.

A report from Dr. Edward B. Logan, the Governor's budget secretary, showed the surplus to be $7,891,896 higher than estimated, primarily because of a $4,000,000 inheritance tax windfall from two large estates.

"The report shows the falseness of the statements that have been made by those who have opposed the administration's tax program," said Fine in a statement.

His tax program is featured by a proposal for a one-half of one per cent personal income tax. The House, is languishing in the Senate Finance committee because of controversial levy, passed by the opposition from a bloc of 11 Republican senators.

Some of the senators have criticized Fine's budget on the basis of an over-estimation of expenses and an under-estimation of revenues.

The Governor claimed that the $119,000,000 income tax is needed to balance his $122,000,000 budget for the next two years.

Fine already has signed into law a bill to increase the four per cent corporate net income tax to five per cent to raise an additional $44,000,000.

The nearly $18,000,000 surplus compares with the figure of $10,000,000, estimated by Fine in his budget message to the Legislature last March 19.

As a result, he said, lawmakers must still provide some $111,000,000 in additional tax money if his budget for the next two years is to be balanced.

The Governor forecast, however, that the surplus will be more than absorbed by legislative appropriations not included in his budget.

One example, he said, was teachers' salaries. The House is now considering a bill to increase school costs by $73,000,000 in the next two years of which $47,000,000 already is provided in the Fine budget. The remaining $26,000,000 would have to come from increased taxes or reduced appropriations.

"The actual figures at the end of the biennium are conclusive evidence that our estimates on which the budget was built were factually correct and that we are within reason in our forecasts for the next two years," said Fine.

Child Tumbles Three Stories, Escapes Injury

New York (AP)—Two-year-old Harry Danciger, anxious about his breakfast, crawled out of his crib yesterday and tumbled three and a half stories from a window of his Brooklyn home.

His mother said he apparently became eager for his morning milk feeding, and climbed to the window ledge. He landed on a concrete courtyard. Doctors could find nothing wrong with him—except he was still hungry.

19 Indicted In $2 Million Bank Swindle

Syracuse, N. Y. (AP)—A Federal district grand jury yesterday indicted 19 persons, including several Syracuse businessmen, in connection with alleged unauthorized overdrafts totaling $2,100,000 on the Syracuse Trust Co.

Two former bookkeepers of the bank, already under arrest, and an Auburn radio and television dealer also were among those indicted.

The grand jury reported to Judge James T. Foley, after a five-week investigation into reported irregularities.

The two former bookkeepers, Bernard E. Klock, 37, and Leslie J. Root Jr., 29, are charged with "misapplication of monies, funds and credits of the bank, and aiding and abetting and conspiring to defraud."

Indicted on the same charge was Jackson M. Potter, one of Syracuse's largest real estate dealers.

Taproom-Club Bill Stirs Controversy

Harrisburg (AP)—A storm of controversy yesterday surrounded legislation to permit taprooms to remain open until 2 a.m. Sunday but to close clubs at the same hour.

The bill is up for action in the Senate next week. Chairman A. H. Letzler (R-Clearfield) of the Senate Law and Order committee, declined, however, to forecast its ultimate fate.

"The measure has drawn some opposition," Letzler said, "but some sort of compromise may be effected next week."

Dr. O. B. Poulson, secretary of the Pennsylvania Temperance league, said his group is opposed to permitting any liquor dispensers to stay open later.

A spokesman for club operators said the operators were not opposed to allowing public bars to stay open later but were against closing clubs earlier than the present 3 a.m. deadline.

"If hotels and taverns want to stay open later why not pass such legislation separately?" asked Bertram J. Murphy, Reading, president of the Pennsylvania Federation of Fraternal and Social Organizations.

In other legislation, the clubs are standing solidly behind a House bill to give county courts final jurisdiction in liquor license suspension cases and liquor disputes. The bill comes to a vote next week.

"We favor having the courts substitute their discretion for that of the State Liquor Control board—an administrative, not judicial, agency," Murphy said.

Other House bills which may gain committee approval next week would ban State liquor stores

Pocono A.C. At East Bangor

First Place At Stake In League Action

Pocono A.C. and East Bangor will clash tomorrow with first place at stake in the Blue Mountain league, on the East Bangor field. The contest, like all afternoon battles in the circuit, will begin promptly at 2:30 p.m.

Manager John Schoonover announced last night that Chet Lucic will do the hurling for Pocono A. C., as the two clubs meet for the second time this year. The first clash, at Gordon Giffels field, resulted in a 1-0 victory for Pocono A. C.

John Drew will do the catching, Danny Eppley will be at first base, Deway Marling, second base, Jimmy Werkheiser, shortstop, and Dick Miller, third base. Doug Schoonover will probably hold down left field, while Don Sweda roams in center and Dick Schaller takes charge of the right field acreage.

Rival Hurling
East Bangor's pitching department will probably be handled by either Charley Lawlor or Unger.

Pocono A. C. currently holds a one-half game edge over both East Bangor and Roseto who are tied for second place, one-half game off the pace.

Roseto's chances of moving in to first place rest on the outcome of tomorrow's clash with Portland, on the latter's home field. Dick Pritchard, who narrowly missed a no-hitter against West Bangor recently, will undoubtedly do the hurling for Roseto, while George Kays is the logical choice to take the mound for Portland.

West Bangor will be seeking to break a fourth place deadlock with Portland while tackling Tatum, on the latter's home field, while Johnsonville and Stockertown are scheduled to do battle at Stockertown.

Cerdan Plaque Unveiled

Paris (AP) — A plaque to the memory of Marcel Cerdan, world's middleweight champion boxer, was unveiled yesterday at the Palais Des Sports—the Madison Square Garden of France.

Cerdan was killed in an air crash en route to the U.S., on Oct. 28, 1949.

Fifty Expected To Drive At Sunrise Speedway

Blakeslee—One of the largest crowds of the season is expected to witness tomorrow's stock car races here at Pocono Sunrise Speedway. More than 50 drivers have already registered with the East-Penn Racing Association—governing body of the track and at least another fifteen drivers will be on hand by race time, at 2:30 p.m.

Leading Pack
Leading the pack will be feature winners, Joe Cryan, Oxford, N. J. Jack Brewer, Easton and Charles Hansler, Kresgeville. Cryan holds the track record of 7:56 for the eight-mile jaunt while Brewer and Hansler are top stock jockeys with years of experience to back them up. Brewer is currently leading the pack in total points scored. He has a semi-final and two qualifying wins to his credit in addition to coping last week's feature. Last year he finished third behind Ray Fleming, Bethlehem, and George Sleight, Easton, in the battle for top point honors. He won four main events in '50 and should easily top that mark this year.

Among the other top men who have registered for tomorrow's events are Don Natt and Bill Hope of Sugarloaf, Pa., Charles Cregar of Phillipsburg, N. J., Otto Harwic, Fred Fehr, Charles McIntyre, Harry Charles and Jim Amato, Easton.

Full Slate For Mountain Loop

Ten Pocono Mountain league teams swing into action on five different fronts tomorrow, as the circuit holds its regular Sunday slate of games. Each contest is scheduled to get underway at 2 p.m.

Undeclared Kunkletown will risk its perfect slate at Tannersville, where a once beaten club will try to do what four other rivals failed to do during the early going of the present campaign.

Other Battles
Readers, defending regular season and playoff title holder, will invade the home domain of Barrett, while Analomink plays at Pocono Lake.

West End A. C. will attempt to break a two-game losing streak at Saylorsburg, while Lake Harmony takes on Tobyhanna, on the latter's home diamond.

Meyer Fined For Inciting Trouble

Brooklyn, (AP) — Russ Meyer, hot-tempered Philadelphia pitcher, yesterday was fined $50 for his rhabarb with Brooklyn's Jackie Robinson.

The penalty was assessed for Meyer's "challenging action," and for "inciting trouble."

Near Blows
No action was taken against Robinson.

The players nearly came to blows several times Thursday night after Meyer had dropped the ball and permitted Robinson to score in the eighth inning on a run-down play. That run proved to be the winning one in the Dodgers' 4-3 victory. There was some bumping on the play.

Bank Signs Lease At Tobyhanna

Tobyhanna — The First National Bank of Scranton yesterday signed a lease for one year with a five-year renewal clause for quarters for the branch bank it proposes to found here to serve this community, the U. S. Army Signal Corps depot and resort interests of the Poconos.

The lease is renewable year by year for a period of five years for the quarters which are now deemed to be temporary quarters for branch bank operations.

One-half of the first floor structure owned by William and Gertrude Flaherty was leased by the First National Bank. Other half of the first floor is now occupied by Flaherty's soda fountain. Top floor of the structure is occupied by Seasonal Sportswear, Inc.

Extensive remodeling operations will be instituted by First National Bank to provide modern banking facilities. Operations are expected to start July 1.

First National Bank of Scranton applied to the U. S. Treasury department for permission to establish a branch bank. Announcement of this move came shortly after Rep. Francis E. Walter (D-Easton) announced that a $30,000, 000 Signal Corps depot employing some 5,000 civilian workers, would be located here on the old military reservation.

In seeking the approval of the Treasury department and the comptroller of currency for a branch bank, First National officials emphasized that while the depot installation was a factor in their decision, it was by no means the determining factor.

They maintained that the First National believed that the resort industry in the Pocono regions has demonstrated that it has an unusual future for growth and expansion which will require additional banking facility services.

Soda Prices Drop Penny

Philadelphia (AP) — Soft drinks should go back to the old familiar nickel-a-bottle price in Pennsylvania, except in restaurants, says the Office of Price Stabilization. Joseph McBryan, acting OPS director of Region Three, said the price should drop a penny a bottle as the result of the end of a State tax on the syrup which is the basis for the soft drinks.

The tax enacted several years ago, at the rate of a penny on each ounce of syrup. It expired Thursday after the State Legislature failed to reenact it into law.

The only exception to the five-cent price, McBryan said, in establishments which sell soft drinks as part of their food business, and are governed by OPS regulations for restaurants. In these places, the proprietor is permitted to charge a "reasonable" price based on his food costs.

All soft drinks bought from automatic dispensers should be sold at five cents per bottle, McBryan said. However, Wilkes-Barre reported soft drink companies there are boosting the price 20 cents on a case of 24 bottles, virtually eliminating the savings resulting from the tax elimination.

The OPS regional office could not be reached for comment on the Wilkes-Barre report.

TV Network To Publicize Poconos

Health, Welfare Agencies Seek Public Support Of Bill Pending In Assembly

The drive to engage support for the local health administration law now in the House Committee on Health and Sanitation widened yesterday with local public health and welfare agency officials moving out to seek support from the citizenry.

Immediate aim is to win favorable committee action on the measure and have it reported to the House floor for favorable vote. Sen. Montgomery F. Crowe and Rep. John S. Shotwell have already been contacted with requests for support in behalf of the measure.

Known as House Bill 1310, the measure authorizes all counties, other than counties of the first class to form single or joint-county departments of health. Cities of first and second class are permitted to retain their health powers and health organizations.

A county department of health, defined as consisting of a board of health, a health director and a staff of employees, may be created by resolution of the county commissioners or by popular referendum, if the proposed department conforms to a county health administration plan drawn by the State Secretary of Health.

After a county department of health has been created, the county commissioners are required to appoint a board of health composed of doctors of medicine and laymen, and the board of health is required to appoint a health director who meets the qualifications prescribed by the State Department of Health.

In the case of joint-county departments of health, the function of the county commissioners is carried out by a "joint county health commission" consisting of the county commissioners of all the participating counties meeting together. Each of the counties must be adjacent to at least one of the other participating counties.

It seems likely, observers said here yesterday, the joint-county department would be the most reasonable set-up for Monroe county.

The jurisdiction of the county department of health extends throughout the county or counties

Board Offers Draft Advice

Selective Service board officials here advised yesterday that students who were issued tickets for the so-called "college deferment" tests, and who were then unable to take the examination, should immediately carry out these instructions:

They should promptly write to the Selective Service Examining section, Educational Testing Service, P. O. Box 586, Princeton, N. J., explaining the circumstances which prevented their taking the examination. They must also return their ticket of admission, if available.

A new ticket will be issued for a later date in deserving cases. Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, director of Selective Service in United States, issued the instructions to all local boards.

Brighten Awnings

Faded awnings may be given a new lease of life by dyeing them or painting them with ordinary house paint which should be thinned with one-fourth turpentine. Paint should be brushed out thin and left to dry thoroughly before the awning is folded.

Mill Boosts Price Of Newsprint

Washington (AP) — Sen. Edwin C. Johnson (D-Colo.) urged Price Administrator Michael V. DiSalle yesterday to resist "with everything we have" a newsprint price increase announced by a Canadian company.

"If permitted to go through and if it spreads to the whole industry, which it will unless blocked, the newspapers of this country will be compelled to shell out an additional tribute of 300 million to 400 million dollars annually," Johnson wrote DiSalle.

Johnson, chairman of the Senate Commerce committee, referred to an announcement by Abitibi, large Canadian newsprint producer, that it was raising the price of newsprint $10 a ton.

"This unjustified price gouge by our Canadian neighbors should be resisted with everything we have," Johnson said.

The senator recalled that DiSalle had written him about two weeks ago that he regarded a report that newsprint prices would be advanced $9 a ton as "merely a rumor."

DiSalle also told Johnson at the time that he had been assured by R. N. Fowler, the director of Defense Production authority in Canada, that there would be no price increase without advance notice.

Toronto, (AP) — Abitibi Power and Paper Co., Ltd., yesterday increased the price of its newsprint by $10 a ton, effective July 1, and there were indications that other companies, too, will shortly announce increases.

Abitibi's decision will make the price of its newsprint, New York base, $116 United States currency; with a Canadian base of $112, Canadian currency.

Two Estates Swell Treasury

Harrisburg (AP) — The death of two wealthy Pennsylvanians has swelled the Commonwealth's treasury by nearly $4,000,000 in inheritance taxes.

The estate of the late William L. Mellon, Pittsburgh financier, paid $2,998,291 in State inheritance taxes. The other $950,000 came from the estate of the late Samuel L. Fels, Philadelphia soap manufacturer.

Rates Hearings Open Monday At Court House In Milford

Milford, Pa.—Increased rates of the Delaware Valley Telephone Co. will be attached at Public Utility commission hearings scheduled for the Court House here next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

The rates, effective since January 1, have been under attack both before and during their effective period.

They have been declared "unreasonable, exorbitant, discriminatory and unjust" in protests filed by Lewis E. Miller, Orville Nearing, Arthur B. Howe, Lynn Lewis, Jackson McCann, Barton V. Hillard, John C. Warner Jr. and Jonas Anchel.

All are prominent Milford and Pike county citizens. Howe is president of the powerful Pike County association and Warner is chasier of the First National Bank here. The protesters have requested that the increased rates be suspended pending "final determination of their reasonableness."

The Delaware Valley Telephone Co. serves Dingmans Ferry region as well as Milford and vicinity.

Also scheduled for a hearing before the PUC examiner here is the application of the Modern Omnibus & Service Co., Inc. for additional rights to transport persons between Monroe and Pike counties.

Acheson Bares Secret Document

Allies Inch Northward Into 'Iron Triangle'

1949 State Department Paper Described Formosa As Of No Special Military Significance

Washington (AP)—Secretary of State Acheson told senators yesterday the United Nations Army has won a powerful victory over Communism in Korea and upset Red "imperialist aims" throughout all Asia.

He said the Kremlin's plan to shake the free world with a quick and easy conquest in Korea has backfired and resulted instead in bringing the United Nations Allies closer together in the test of "collective security."

Acheson brought to the Senate Armed Services and Foreign Relations committees—studying the ouster of Gen. Douglas MacArthur—a fighting defense of administration war policies.

But he lost the first round when senators forced into the open a secret 1949 State department document which said the island of Formosa had "no special military significance" and its loss to Red China was expected.

The inquiry group overrode by a 15 to 9 vote Acheson's protests that the disclosure would provide Russia with propaganda material which would hurt the "Voice of America" program abroad.

General MacArthur and top-ranking military leaders have testified the Chinese Nationalist stronghold of Formosa has great value in the strategic defenses of the United States—and it must not be permitted to fall to Red China.

Acheson insisted the document—in the form of a memorandum—was sent to consular officers in December, 1949, as a move to guard U. S. prestige in case Formosa fell to the Reds.

He argued the U. S. policy toward Formosa had not changed from October, 1948, to June, 1950, despite the document. He said the policy in that period was to try to keep Formosa out of Red hands by diplomatic means rather than by military action.

"First of all," he told senators, "it was understood and agreed that Formosa has strategic importance so far as the United States was concerned."

He declared the document was sent out merely as guidance "to minimize the damaging effects to the United States of the possible fall of Formosa."

Acheson did not run into the barrage of questions expected from Republicans who have aimed at him most of the criticism of administration foreign policy. But this was because most of the day was consumed in debate about release of the Formosa document and direct questioning was limited. He will be questioned again today.

Questioned by Chairman Russell (D-Ga.) of the inquiry group, Acheson said the U. S. government has made no effort yet to get United Nations Allies to impose a naval blockade against Red China.

Adm. Forrest Sherman, chief of naval operations, has proposed a naval blockade as the next step after economic sanctions to shut off the flow of war goods to the Red armies.

Acheson said: "We have always felt that if we can get a very effective economic blockade, a naval blockade becomes much less important." He added the government has had "considerable success" in getting Allies to go along with the economic blockade.

One—Permit wages to rise by the same percentage as living costs since January, 1950. This would mean 10.5 per cent, under the old cost-of-living index.

Two—Permit increases of perhaps 2 per cent for gains in productivity—more output per worker. Such an increase would be allowed for 1950. This and the proposed cost-of-living increase add to 12 1/2 per cent.

Three—Fix standards for the granting of additional increases in cases of "hardship and inequity." The "productivity" increase would be allowed only if the employer certified that, first, there was a genuine step-up in production per man and, second, he would not seek a price increase based on the cost rise.

The cost-of-living adjustments would be made quarterly or semi-annually, based on changes shown by the Bureau of Labor Statistics index.

As with the present 10 per cent ceiling, the new standards would be permissive, not mandatory. Cost-of-living increases and "productivity" clauses would be bargained out between companies and workers, as at present.

The Wage board voted yesterday to consider productivity pay raises "and other types of deferred wage increases" next Monday.

Faces Murder Trial

Washington (AP)—Attorney General McGrath yesterday authorized a new murder trial in California for William E. Cook Jr., desperado who left a trail of death behind him on a hitch-hiking trip last January.

Clifford Gilliam Receives Golden Deed Award At Pennsylvania Exchange Club Convention

Buck Hill Falls—Over 350 members of Pennsylvania Exchange clubs gathered at the Inn here yesterday for the first full day of their State Convention.

During a "model luncheon" in the afternoon District Governor Horace G. Walters presented the East Stroudsburg club's "Golden Deed" award to Clifford R. Gilliam.

This is the third year the award has been made. It is given to the person the club feels has done the most during the past year for Monroe county and East Stroudsburg.

Past recipients of the award have been Luther Hoffman and Rev. Harold C. Eaton. James T. Kitson, president of the Monroe county YMCA board of directors, commended Mr. Gilliam for his supervision of the YMCA's fund-raising campaign in 1949. Mr. Gilliam is presently a member of the YMCA's national council board of directors.

Frank S. LaBar, member of the General hospital board of directors, reviewed Mr. Gilliam's work as head of the hospital's fund raising campaign. LeRoy Mikels, past president and director of the Monroe county chapter, American Red Cross, declared he had recognized Mr. Gilliam's worth as a community worker back in 1941.

S. S. Kresge, chairman of the board, Kresge foundation, explained he'd received letters of thanks for his $250,000 hospital contribution, but Mr. Gilliam deserved the credit "because he knew where to go to get the money."

Henry S. Evans, president of the East Stroudsburg club, presided at the model luncheon. The invocation was given by Rev. Frank W. Wingert, pastor of East Stroudsburg Presbyterian church.

Members of the "Golden Deed" award committee were Horace G. Walters, chairman; Gilbert Dunlap, Thomas L. Kistler, John I. Lanterman, Newton C. Taylor Sr., Horace G. Walters, Horace R. Westbrook.

The East Stroudsburg High school band, under the direction of Clement Wiedmeyer, entertained Exchange members last night.

Two of the numbers were conducted by John Eaton, student director. Main convention conference will be held today. Principal speakers will be National Exchange President D. Russell Bontrager; Fred P. Hare, State senator and chairman of the senate education committee.

Memorial services will be held at 2 p.m. and the annual business session will be held at 7 p.m. The festivities will wind up tonight with the annual Exchange ball.

Fresh Reds Pour South To Hold Line

Tokyo, Saturday (AP)—Allied troops blasted north inch by inch today into reinforced Red standing before the "iron triangle" of Kumsu-Chorwon-Pyongyang in North Korea.

Fresh Chinese troops poured south to bolster approaches to the key area from which roads radiate in every direction. It is vital to the Reds as a buildup area.

AP Correspondent Nate Polowetzky reported from Eighth Army that the buildup was south of the triangle and appeared to be defensive. An Allied armored force battled within 12 miles of the triangle's western corner. The base of the triangle is about 15 miles north of the 38th parallel, the apex 29 miles north.

The terrific drain on China's trained manpower for its ill-fated April and May offensive was emphasized by the U. S. Defense department in Washington. Red losses from mid-May to the end of the month were placed at 162,000. The figure embraced part of the second Red spring offensive. The Reds lost an estimated 75,000 men in the first one.

East of Yonchon on the road to Chorwon, the Reds withstood a tremendous air and artillery pounding and blocked all Allied efforts to advance. An American tank-infantry force reached just south of Yonchon but later withdrew after a sharp fight. About 1,800 Reds were reported concentrating northeast of Yonchon.

The toughest fight for the moment was around Yonchon, 12 miles below Chorwon, western anchor of the triangle. Yonchon is seven miles north of the 38th parallel and about 35 miles north of Seoul.

Another Allied force had to call on heavy artillery support in a push north of Hwachon toward Kumsu, eastern anchor of the triangle.

Planes directed the fire of three artillery battalions against a force of 1,000 Reds north of Hwachon. Today's Eighth Army communiqué said the artillery caused "heavy enemy casualties."

Hwachon, 17 miles southeast of Kumsu, is at the west end of Allied-won Hwachon Reservoir.

Over at the east end of the 11-mile-long reservoir, a tank infantry force pushed into Yangu Friday.

American officers, a pooled dispatch said, had hoped that would close a trap on thousands of Chinese troops. But a high-ranking U. S. officer expressed belief the Chinese were successful in screening the withdrawal of their main body of troops.

The sun shone brightly today and muddy roads and trails that had hampered Allied vehicle movements were drying out.

It also aided Red supply efforts. Fifth Air Force pilots jumped on enemy supply columns last night and reported more than 110 enemy vehicles destroyed or damaged.

Carriers off both coasts, including the newly arrived Bon Homme Richard, sent fighter planes swarming over enemy lines in the central sector.

King George III

London (AP)—Diplomats attached to the court of St. James said yesterday the health of King George VI is causing his physicians and family considerable anxiety.

Buckingham palace doctors announced the ailing King is suffering from a small catarrhal inflammation of a lung-which chest specialists said is a slight form of pneumonia.

Atlanta, (AP)—Wedding plans of Tom Amburn and his cancer-stricken fiancée were interrupted yesterday when the young sailor had to fly home to his mother in Sioux Falls, S. D.

Amburn, engaged to marry pretty Betty Thompson, said his mother collapsed Thursday night while he talked with her over the telephone.

The publicity upset my mother and she got such mixed-up reports back home," Tom said. "She heard we already were married and were traveling over there to see her."

"You can't blame her for being disturbed over things like that," Betty said, smiling fondly at her sailor sweetheart.

Amburn, big, blond and 19, had a happy reunion Thursday night with the 18-year-old high school beauty queen after a special flight on a Navy plane from his station at Norfolk, Va.

The couple rushed plans for a marriage which both realized was doomed to last only a short time.

Senate Votes Final Okay To Draft Bill, Sets Up UMT Program Machinery

Washington (AP)—The Senate yesterday stamped its final approval on a bill to extend the draft until mid-1955 and set up the mechanics for a permanent Universal Military Training program.

Passage of the compromise measure, affecting the lives of millions of young Americans, was by voice vote. The bill, which had been worked out in a Senate-House conference committee, now goes to the House for scheduled action next week.

Major provisions of the legislation call for:

One—Reduction of the draft age from 19 to 18 1/2, but no draft board may induct men under 19 until it has exhausted its pool of eligible men between 19-26.

Two—Increasing draft service from 21 to 24 months.

Three—Authority for the President to call reservists for 24 months of active duty, until July 1, 1953. It would allow inactive reservists, veterans of World War Two, to be released within 17 months.

Four—Reduction of mental standards from a score of 70 to 65 on the mental qualification test—to bring in an estimated 150,000 4-Fs—and lowering of physical standards back to the level of Jan. 1, 1945.

Five—Leaving the authority to defer students up to the draft boards, but men who get occupational deferments would be liable for induction up to the age of 35.

The bill also sets a 5,000,000 ceiling on the armed forces. Senate passage came after Senator McCarthy (R-Wis.) announced that if the bill had come to a roll call vote, he would have voted against it because of what he termed the policies of Secretary of State Acheson.

The Wisconsin senator, a bitter critic of Acheson, said the State department was blocking the use of 600,000 Chinese Nationalist troops in the Korean war, and he told the Senate:

"As a result, only American boys are allowed to die on the battlefield in the fight against Communism."

Eric Johnston Proposes New Wage Formula

Washington (AP)—Stabilizer Eric Johnston has proposed a new wage formula pegging pay ceilings to living costs and permitting, for millions of workers, an immediate boost ranging up to 12 1/2 per cent above the levels of January, 1950.

Responsible officials disclosed yesterday that Johnston has asked the Wage Stabilization board to stop handling individual disputes which may set wage precedents and wait until a general formula is adopted.

Wage control depends on extension of the mobilization act. It expires June 30 and may be revised. The wage ceiling now is 10 per cent above the levels of January, 1950.

Johnston's plan to replace the present limit on wage increases was unfolded by him at a closed meeting with the board Thursday, it was learned. It met disagreement on some particulars. It would:

One—Permit wages to rise by the same percentage as living costs since January, 1950. This would mean 10.5 per cent, under the old cost-of-living index.

Two—Permit increases of perhaps 2 per cent for gains in productivity—more output per worker. Such an increase would be allowed for 1950. This and the proposed cost-of-living increase add to 12 1/2 per cent.

Three—Fix standards for the granting of additional increases in cases of "hardship and inequity." The "productivity" increase would be allowed only if the employer certified that, first, there was a genuine step-up in production per man and, second, he would not seek a price increase based on the cost rise.

The cost-of-living adjustments would be made quarterly or semi-annually, based on changes shown by the Bureau of Labor Statistics index.

As with the present 10 per cent ceiling, the new standards would be permissive, not mandatory. Cost-of-living increases and "productivity" clauses would be bargained out between companies and workers, as at present.

Wilson Named As Director

John R. Wilson, general secretary of the YMCA in Stroudsburg, has been elected to the board of directors of the Lehigh Valley Social Service exchange serving Monroe, Carbon, Lehigh, Pike, Northampton counties.

Miss Mary Stevens, executive secretary of Lehigh County Children's Aid society, was also elected to the board as a result of mail balloting by 78 member agencies of the exchange.

Re-elected were Mrs. Harold Gumble, Pike county; Weston M. Kelsey, Lehigh; Dr. Charles Rominger and Mrs. F. E. Weinland, Northampton county.

These directors will join the other 12 members of the board at the June 8 meeting which will be held in Palmerton.

At that time officers will be elected on presentation of the report of the nominations committee headed by Dr. Morris Greth, Muhlenberg College. Others on the committee are C. B. Altomose, executive director, Monroe County DPA; and Major Neil Hood, Salvation Army, Allentown.

Ex-Vice Consul Pleads Guilty To Taking Bribes

Wilkesboro, N. C. (AP) — John Wayne Clark Williams, former United States vice consul at Hong Kong, China, pleaded guilty yesterday to three counts of accepting bribes to speed the entry of non-immigrant Chinese into the United States.

Federal District Judge Johnson J. Hayes sentenced the 26-year-old bespectacled defendant to six years in the Federal reformatory at Ashland, Ky.

The State department announced March 27 that Williams and three other employees of the U. S. Consulate at Hong Kong had been dismissed last December as homosexuals and that Williams had admitted taking bribes. His home is at Carboro, N. C. The government charged that he accepted $3,000 in U. S. currency for approving Chinese visas.

Price War Continues But Cracks Noted

New York (AP) — Rock-bottom prices kept New York's big department store price war at fever heat yesterday.

Hordes of bargain hunters, jostling each other in eagerness to buy, cleaned out stocks of such articles as men's summer suits and small electrical appliances.

In several instances this caused a sudden reversal of the price cutting that had slashed several items by as much as 40 per cent since Monday.

Men's springweave suits, formerly price-fixed at $49.50, had sold as low as $29.65 Thursday. Yesterday morning Macy's, Gimbel's and Bloomingdale's all reported stocks exhausted.

Then Bloomingdale's brought out a new supply. It restored the $49.50 price tag.

Hopalong Cassidy shirts for boys — originally $3.50 — opened at $2.77 yesterday morning at Gimbel's.

By day's close they had climbed past the original price to $3.71.

It was understood this happened after Macy's had sold out.

But these were the exceptions to the general hot pace of the continuing price war in which Gimbel's yesterday reported a 60 per cent dollar volume increase over Thursday's sales.

When one store ran out of a popular brand of electric toaster that had sold at a 36 per cent reduction, it instituted similar cuts on another brand.

Frenzied scenes were enacted as the stores opened yesterday. Hundreds surging against barriers at entrances jockeyed for position in a mad scramble on stairways and escalators.

They jammed three and four deep around counters; they descended on clothing racks while harried clerks tried to fill their needs.

Some men bought three or four suits each.

There was one big difference in yesterday's battle of the retailers — prices held fairly steady at Thursday's lowest levels.

This was easily explained: Many prices had been cut to dealer's cost levels, and some slightly below that. And the stores showed little inclination to go beyond that point.

The pace of selling on the most popular articles seldom slackened. In an alcove near where Macy's was selling electric mixers at $28.59 against the manufacturer's set retail price of $48.50, cartons of the appliances were stacked to the ceiling.

And store trucks arrived at intervals of 10 to 15 minutes with fresh supplies.

When the stock of Toastmasters (fixed price $23) was exhausted at a price of $14.72, Macy's and Gimbel's started selling General Mills automatic toasters, formerly priced at $22.95, for $14.57.

The close of business brought an announcement from Eversharp, Inc., that it was discontinuing deliveries to Macy's.

Replenishing of stocks could offer a problem for some stores. One buyer was quoted as saying the length of the price war "will depend on whether manufacturers choke off the supply of goods coming into New York."

These manufacturers were not happy when the United States Supreme court ruled retailers who did not sign fair trade agreements were not bound to observe retail prices set by the producers.

It was this ruling that Macy's seized upon in starting price cuts Tuesday on nationally-advertised, fixed-price merchandise. Gimbel's, which says "nobody undercuts us," met or exceeded the Macy cut.

Other big stores here followed suit, and the war was on.

The U. S. normally uses 800,000,000 pounds of wool a year but produces only about 200,000,000.

It was this ruling that Macy's seized upon in starting price cuts Tuesday on nationally-advertised, fixed-price merchandise. Gimbel's, which says "nobody undercuts us," met or exceeded the Macy cut.

Other big stores here followed suit, and the war was on.

The U. S. normally uses 800,000,000 pounds of wool a year but produces only about 200,000,000.

Twin Borough High Schools Enter Names Of Princesses In Laurel Blossom Festival

Two more high school princesses were announced yesterday by the 1951 Laurel Blossom festival director, Walter Fossa. He also reported two other young women had entered the princess contest from employee groups in the county.

Contestants in the employee groups will have the snapshots they submit displayed in the E. A. Bell Insurance Co. window through courtesy of Harry M. Albert, manager of the firm. All contestants' photos will remain in the window until winners are selected for princess roles at the Laurel Blossom coronation ball in Shawnee Inn on June 20.

Snapshots in employee contest — covering factory, office, hotel workers and waitresses — are to be submitted to Mr. Fossa at Pocono Mountains Chamber of Commerce office in Stroudsburg together with such data as age, height, weight, etc.

One of the two entries in this division received yesterday, is Catherine Renee Turnbach, Strickland's Mountain Inn. Miss Turnbach is a graduate of Wyoming Seminary. She will graduate from Marywood College June 3 where she won a four-year scholarship. She will graduate summa cum laude, third in history of the college to attain this honor. She is 22 with brown hair and blue eyes.

Miss Jeanne Gaunt, Stroudsburg, another entry, resides at 501 Fifth St. She is 19 and is employed by Waring Enterprises. Miss Gaunt has blonde hair, gray-green eyes.

Miss Mary Ellen Henning, 17, daughter of Deputy Sheriff and Mrs. Victory Henning, Stroudsburg, will represent Stroudsburg High school as a princess. Miss Henning has an excellent scholastic standing, is secretary of Senior class and has enrolled at Bloomsburg State Teachers College.

Miss Jean Pearson will represent East Stroudsburg High school. She is president of the Tri-Hi-Y and has an excellent scholastic record. Miss Pearson has light brown hair. She is five feet five and weighs 124.

Mr. Fossa announced for the first time that tickets for the 1951 Coronation ball are ready for sale. Music will be provided by Tommy Tucker's band of the year.

Checks may be mailed to Mr. Fossa, care of Pocono Mountains Vacation Bureau, for tickets to the ball. They are $5 per person.

County Medical Society Presents Award To Mrs. Koehler

Recognition Given For Health Work

At the meeting of the Monroe county chapter of the American Red Cross to which she has given so many years of service, Mrs. LeRoy J. Koehler last night received an award for her contribution to the public health of Monroe county from the Monroe County Medical association.

Dr. Evan J. Reese, chairman of public relations of the medical group, in making the Benjamin K. Rush award at the county level, explained that it is given annually to an individual who, without remuneration, has contributed most to the health of the county.

"The recommendations of the county medical groups are considered in making the state-wide award," he said.

In his tribute to Mrs. Koehler, Dr. Reese mentioned her years as chairman of volunteer Red Cross nursing committee, as chairman of nursing special services of the Red Cross since the early days of World War Two when they worked on nutrition, home nursing, nurses aid, and the production of medical supplies for the armed services, to the present when the volunteers contribute to the important blood donor program.

He also called attention to the fact that Mrs. Koehler is again serving as chairman of the nursing committee for the newly-organized Monroe County Organization of Public Health Nurses which has taken over the duties of the Red Cross Nursing group.

Mrs. Koehler has given, he said, unstintingly not only of her own time, energy and talent, but has also devoted to the public good her qualities of leadership that have enlisted the help of capable women in these projects from all groups in the county.

Mrs. Koehler in her acceptance speech said that she was grateful to the heritage of the past, to her husband and son who had encouraged her community work, and to the community itself for giving her the opportunity to serve. She recalled that her first community service here was as chairman of the nursing committee with the Red Cross.

Present to see her receive the award were Dr. Claus Jordan, Dr. Charlotte Jordan, of the Medical society, and Mrs. John Rumsey, of the auxiliary to the medical society.

George Robinson, Red Cross chapter chairman, presented Dr. Reese. LeRoy Mikels, who last year received not only the county but the Pennsylvania state Rush award, was one of the Red Cross executive committee members present.

FOR OUTSTANDING CONTRIBUTIONS to public health, Mrs. LeRoy J. Koehler is shown above receiving the Benjamin K. Rush award made annually to a layman. Dr. Evan J. Reese is presenting the medal on behalf of the Monroe County Medical association at the meeting of the local chapter of the American Red Cross last night.

Money Donated To Amputee To Form Nucleus Of Million Dollar Fund To Help Limbless

Washington (AP)—The dollars and dimes that people sent to the first quadruple amputee of the Korean war are about to snowball into a million dollar foundation for the aid of the limbless.

It will be known as the Robert L. Smith foundation, in honor of the Middleburg, Pa., veteran who lost his arms and legs after being wounded and frozen at Chungjin reservoir last November and who wants his contributions used in this manner.

Church Mourns For Cardinal

Philadelphia (AP)—The Roman Catholic Diocese of Philadelphia began formal mourning yesterday for the late Dennis Cardinal Dougherty, the archbishop who died Thursday of a cerebral hemorrhage.

The first masses offered in the presence of the cardinal's body began early yesterday morning as he lay in state in the faculty chapel of St. Charles Borromeo Seminary in suburban Overbrook. Every half hour after dawn, five masses were said simultaneously, the first of thousands of memorial services to mark his passing.

During the day, preparations were begun at the Cathedral of St. Peter and Paul in downtown Philadelphia, for the funeral next Thursday. The building was draped in black, and decorations were stripped from the high altar of white marble, beneath which the cardinal's remains will be buried after the solemn pontifical mass of viewing.

Public viewing of the body will begin on Sunday, in the main St. Martin's chapel at the seminary. Viewing by members of the huge archdiocese, which includes more than a million Catholics in eastern Pennsylvania, church officials and lay dignitaries, will continue at the chapel on Monday and Tuesday.

Until the body is transferred to St. Martin's chapel on Sunday morning, it will remain in state on a bier in the faculty chapel, clothed in the full pontifical vestments, including the white mitre of the bishop, the purple robes and gloves of office, and the bishop's ring.

Tobey Report Made Public

Washington (AP)—Sharp criticism of the Reconstruction Finance Corp. (RFC) and the Baltimore & Ohio railroad was detailed yesterday in the publication of a four-year-old, never approved Senate document.

The document, a report that Senator Tobey (R-NH) unsuccessfully submitted to a Senate banking subcommittee in 1947, said the RFC hurt itself and violated the law in connection with the financing of an $80,000,000 loan to the railroad.

The subcommittee in 1947 voted not to adopt the report on a motion by Senator Fulbright (D-Ark). Fulbright said he submitted the motion of disapproval at the request of Senator Capehart (R-Ind.), then chairman of the subcommittee.

"RFC fitted itself into the B. & O.'s scheme of things, allowed B. & O. to handle its funds in a way injurious to the RFC's own interest, but necessary to B. & O.'s plan for a reorganization in 1944, and by this course of conduct made itself an accessory before the fact to an unnecessary reorganization," the Tobey report said.

The Senate Banking committee voted to make the report public at this late date after much of it had leaked out and appeared in print. It will be exactly four years old July 25.

The RFC-B&O loan came back into the news this week with Tobey's proposal that a new congressional investigation be undertaken by the subcommittee which has been looking into RFC lending policies, under the chairmanship of Senator Fulbright.

Rites Held For Mrs. Williams

10,000 Attend Field Day At Sordoni Farms

Kingston — Several Monroe county families attended the annual grassland field day at Sordoni Sterling farms yesterday.

An estimated crowd of 10,000 gathered at the Harveys Lake farm, owned by former Sen. A. J. Sordoni.

Arthur E. Ifft, Monroe county farm agent, and 13 other county agents from northeastern Pennsylvania, planned and conducted the entire program.

It was the fourth in a series of five district grassland field days across the State and brought total attendance to date to 25,000.

State Extension Director J. M. Fry, one of a group of administrators from Pennsylvania State College, looking across the large crowd during brief speaking exercises at noon, observed:

"... you people must be seriously interested in this particular type of agriculture (grassland farming) which is adapted to Pennsylvania conditions."

Fry, who heads the grassland program in Pennsylvania, said the serious attitude evidenced by the large crowd was an indication the field day was serving its intended purpose as an educational event.

From start to finish, the day was a procession of many different activities, all of them related directly to better production and use of grass crops on the farm.

First 90-Degree Weather Of Year Heralds Arrival Of June, Summer Traffic

"June is busting out all over."

This is the way Michael F. Hannon, official Daily Record weather observer, described yesterday's perspiration-provoking weather.

The vivid results of a high pressure area—90-degree temperature, singing automobile tires on the soft, runny tar—turned the first day of June into a genuine pre-August heat wave.

Clubs Propose Concurrent Deer Season

Harrisburg, (AP)—A two-week concurrent buck and doe season in Pennsylvania this year was proposed yesterday as a solution to the deer over-population problem.

The proposal was suggested by Dale Furst, of Williamsport, president of the Pennsylvania Federation of Sportsmen's Clubs.

Furst made the suggestion at a public hearing held by the State Game commission to gather views for consideration in fixing 1951 game seasons and bag limits.

Furst told the commission it is generally agreed by most sportsmen that something has to be done to reduce the large deer herd to bring it in balance with the available food supply.

"Let's start with a big season on both bucks and does with no local option and see where we go," he urged.

Furst emphasized however that if the commission should find it more expedient to declare separate buck and doe seasons, his agency would prefer to have the doe season follow the buck season.

Last year, the commission fixed the two-day doe, or antlerless, season in advance of the regular buck season.

Rep. George E. Goodling (R-York), chairman of the House Game and Forestry committee, told the commission it was his considered view that a two-day separate doe season would be adequate this year to meet the deer herd reduction problem.

Sebring Is Speaker At Graduation

Walter H. Sebring, assistant county superintendent of schools, last night told members of Middle Smithfield school's eighth grade graduating class success in life consists in "making the most of the best that is in you."

He outlined a five-point formula for success:

"Learn to direct yourself, learn to make proper decisions, set up self-standards, cultivate your vision to see and develop your ability to do."

Convention Books Show Cash Balance

The recent Pennsylvania Lions State convention, held in the Pocono Mountains with headquarters in the Inn at Buck Hill Falls, was a financial as well as a social success, the convention committee was informed last night.

The committee met at the Stroudsburg municipal building, Chairman Harry J. Drennan of Barrett presiding, and all the clubs in the district, known as the day clubs, were represented. These are Stroudsburg, West End, Portland, Barrett, Pocono and East Bangor.

Bills were received and balances checked and, while all charges are not in as yet, Chairman Drennan said a cash balance, after all accounts are liquidated, seems assured. It is recognized that the staging and financing of a convention of this size is a gamble, and can conceivably financially handicap the host clubs for a long time.

The state issues a booklet containing a full report of all phases of the convention and the costs of this publication go against the convention funds. Chairman Drennan reported that even with this heavy expenditure, the clubs seem almost certain to make a little money.

Spending Month

June—month of roses, brides, and other nice things—also will be, if it runs true to form, a month of spectacular Federal spending.

Last year, for example, the Government spent about $2,962,000,000 in the 31 days of May. But, for 30 days of June, the figure was almost $4,296,000,000, of which $1,122,000,000 was spent on the month's last day.

The story was much the same in 1949: May spending, $3,104,000,000; June spending $4,579,000,000—and, of that, $1,216,000,000 on June 30.

D. A. Hulcy, president of the United States Chamber of Commerce, having checked still earlier records, says that each June since World War II has seen Federal outlays jump at least 4 per cent over the previous month.

And the reason, as he points out, is obvious.

Midnight of each June 30 marks the end of a Government fiscal year. It also marks the end of Government agencies' authority to spend money from their appropriations for that fiscal year.

The agencies, Mr. Hulcy says, want to get rid of money appropriated to them before the fiscal year ends, so they won't have to return anything to the Treasury.

Well, that tendency is understandable. For if the head of an agency spends less than he is authorized to spend in one fiscal year, Congress may tell him to get along with permanently smaller future appropriations.

But it's a tendency that results in a great deal of unnecessary spending.

Mr. Hulcy has expressed his hope that the coming June will be made a welcome exception—that all Federal agencies will "try hard to avoid increased spending not essential to national security, and will turn back to the Treasury as much as they can of their current appropriations."

That, considering the times and the tax rates, certainly is an entirely reasonable hope.

Color by Airwaves

While the time is not yet arrived when the householder can flip the switch of his television set and behold the wonders of the entertainment world in all the colors of the spectrum, that time is moved a bit closer by the Supreme Court decision upholding the color TV plans of one company.

But that does not mean the immediate arrival of color TV in this or any other city, since present sets designed for the reception of the more prosaic black and white images must be converted in order to receive color, and new sets built specifically for color reception are not generally to be found on the market.

The issue of color TV has been highly controversial, with charges and counter-charges involving not only the protagonists of the several systems but the Federal Communications Commission as well. Most of the ruckus has been purely academic, as far as the general public is concerned, for the average TV enthusiast, present or prospective, does not care a great deal who invented the process nor whose company puts it on the air, so long as the image comes to his screen with a minimum of blizzard effects and similar annoying phenomena.

The main point is that color TV is getting closer to us, however snail-like its pace. When one considers that despite the development of color in the movies the majority of films still arrive in black-and-white, there should be no annoyed irritation if color on TV is delayed a little longer.

The giant redwoods and other coniferous trees are evolutionally less advanced than the humble dandelions and sweet-peas.

Try And Stop Me

Jim Marshall tells the story of a night when a Santa Fe train puffed into the Oklahoma station of Wynoka, just after the Panhandle branch was opened. It was a bitter cold, stormy night, and the station agent was distressed to note that a motherly old soul who got off the train obviously didn't know which way to turn.

"I'll take you to the nearest inn myself, ma'am," he volunteered, and led her to a hotel where liquor was flowing freely and several poker and faro games were in progress. "I'm afraid it's noisy, ma'am," said the station agent, "but it's the only hotel in town, and I'm sure they'll make you comfortable, for, as a matter of fact, I'm part owner here. May I have your name please?" "You may," said the motherly old soul grimly. "It's Carry Nation."

On another branch of the Santa Fe, recalls Marshall, a circus train was stalled on a siding. Three elephants managed to get their trunks unnoticed into the tender tank, and used up all the water giving themselves a shower. The train was stalled—until an ingenious Hindu mahout named O'Reilly uncoupled the engine and made the elephants tow it three miles down the track to a water tower.

Hollywood

Hollywood—Amos 'n' Andy are getting set to retire.

In two more years, the stars of radio's oldest program will complete their contract with CBS. Then, quipped Freeman Gosden, who plays Amos and the Kingfish: "We'll get into wheelchairs and go."

"Downhill" broke in Charles (Andy) Correll, completing the gag.

But their show will go on—on television and radio—with other performers. Gosden and Correll are supervising the production of one half hour television film a week. The films, which have an all-Negro cast, are scheduled to go on the air late in June.

Actually, when they retire, "Amos" Gosden wants to travel and play golf. "Andy" Correll, who once practiced his father's trade of bricklaying, wants to get at a lot of chores around his home, like painting his five children's swings and back-yard merry-go-round.

Retirement will end 27 consecutive years of Negro comedy for the two white men. They went on Chicago's WGN as "Sam 'n' Henry" in January, 1926. Two years later they switched to WMAQ, in the same city, as "Amos 'n' Andy." The show went coast to coast on NBC in 1929.

The only broadcast they missed was when they were snowed in on a Maryland hunting trip. Bill Hay, then their announcer, filled in by reading biographies of them. Another time an operation for an infected nose didn't stop "Andy" Correll from doing the next night's broadcast. "Amos" Gosden, who used to suffer from migraine headaches, has broadcast when the pain was so intense he had to read his script with one eye. One time his watch failed him, and he lingered too long in a tailor shop. "Andy" went on alone, carrying on imaginary phone conversations and doubling in his other character, Henry Van Porter. The sponsor wired "Amos" "Hope you had a successful fishing trip."

Fans have included the late Henry Ford, Sr., and Presidents Hoover, Roosevelt and Truman. Hoover told them jokes at the White House; FDR had them in for dinner.

"Amos" Gosden, now 52, is baldish, florid, still boyishly eager, and still speaks with the accent of his native Richmond, Va. Correll, 61, is likewise ruddy and has handsome silver hair. They met at the Elks Club in Durham, N. C., as employees of a Chicago firm that staged amateur shows.

These Days -- By George E. Sokolsky

Sokolsky

The American Friends Service Committee, the leading organization among the Quakers, has issued a pamphlet designed to encourage Americans to favor peace. The effort is, of course, redundant, as all Americans favor peace and hate war and some find themselves outraged that our administration in Washington, beginning in November 1943, so arranged the world that we now find ourselves in the third war since 1917.

However, in this pamphlet, "Steps To Peace," the Quakers say things that are incorrect almost to the point of being naive. For instance, let us take this paragraph for analysis:

"If ever weapons and power can give security, the United States should feel secure in 1951. We have the most favored geographical position of any nation in the world. We have the greatest and most highly developed industrial strength, the largest navy, the greatest stockpile of atomic weapons, and the greatest facilities for producing more.

Surely these elements should at least give us a greater sense of security than that enjoyed by the countries of Europe and Asia. Yet evidence points to the fact that the United States does not feel secure. Indeed, we have felt more insecure since the end of World War II than at any time within memory, despite the high level of armaments in our peace-time history."

But the Quakers must know, from their faith if nothing else, that "weapons and power" cannot of themselves provide security. Nor is there any evidence that the United States possesses either superiority or even equality in weapons with Soviet Russia. Their air-fleet is larger; their submarine fleet is larger. We assume that they are stockpiling A-bombs, although we do not know with what success. We do know that so-called pacifist and progressive scientists aided them in stealing our bomb plans and in lessening our advantage.

As to power, Soviet Russia controls a population of at least 800,000,000 as against our 150,000,000. In the Korean and French Indo-Chinese wars, Soviet Russia has demonstrated that international Communism functions as though it were one country, utilizing non-Russian forces, whereas the United States in the Korean War has been forced to provide 90 percent of the forces and General Eisenhower is encountering increasing difficulty in finding divisions for developing an adequate army for the defense of Western Europe. In fact, a tendency appears in many countries to find a road to neutrality, which imperils the United States and not Russia.

Against Russia's own 175 divisions—not counting the Chinese and other satellites—the most the United States and Western Europeans can hope to offer is perhaps 40 divisions.

Where is this power the Quakers talk about?

But there is a further point in all this. The United States followed the leadership of such pacifist groups as the Quakers and produced the United Nations, to which we are committed so definitely that we risk our sons in Korea in a futile campaign to satisfy United Nations policies. As General MacArthur and even his opponents have established, the Korean War cannot be won on the targetless formula designed by the United Nations. Yet, we pursue this policy because it is the formal concept of the administration that some other policy might wreck the United Nations.

There is no security in that, for Soviet Russia has taken every advantage of this decision to utilize the United Nations, not as a parliament of states but as a center of vicious intrigue and dishonest and profane propaganda against the United States. Each session of the Security Council is drenched because such creatures as Vishinsky, Gromyko, Malik, and Katz-Suchy do and say things there which would at any time produce so violent a public reaction as to lead to war.

The Quakers, as everyone else, might just as well recognize that it takes two parties to maintain peace as to make war. Soviet Russia has been building a world empire to isolate the United States and, in time, to achieve our destruction. When World War II was over, the United States hurriedly disarmed and tried to assume a normal, peaceful existence; Soviet Russia built an army of 175 divisions and continued the war on many fronts.

We are faced by this appalling fact, and while men may differ as to what to do about it, the Quakers provide little guidance in these trying days.

Sunday School Lesson

Scripture—Ezra 1: 5-6; Nehemiah 2-6; 8-9.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

As we learned in our last lesson, Jerusalem was finally taken by the Babylonians under Nebuchadnezzar, the city destroyed, the temple burned and thousands of citizens carried away into captivity.

Today we learn of the restoration of the city. Three heathen kings were responsible, in part, for that rebuilding. If you will recall pictures of cities devastated by air bombardment in the last war, especially photographs of people restoring some of the buildings, you must realize what hard work is involved in rebuilding a city stricken by war.

Our lesson begins: "Thus saith Cyrus, king of Persia, All the kingdoms of the earth hath Jehovah, the God of heaven, given me; and He hath charged me to build Him a House in Jerusalem, which is in Judah."

King Cyrus called for someone to direct the rebuilding of the Temple. "Then rose up Zerubbabel, the son of Shealtiel, and Jesus, the son of Josadak, and began to build the House of God which is at Jerusalem: and with them were the prophets of God helping them."

Now some men who were rulers and governors in that country came to the builders and asked who had commanded them to build the House? The matter came to the attention of Darius, in a letter, who was then king of Persia. He made a search concerning the matter and found the record of Cyrus, so the building when on, at Darius' command. The scroll on which Cyrus' proclamation was given specified the manner of building the Temple, and also stated that the gold and silver vessels which Nebuchadnezzar had taken from the Temple should be returned.

Darius ordered that the Jews be left alone in the work of restoration, and that they were to be helped and bullocks, rams and young lambs be provided for their sacrifices.

"And this House was finished on the third day of the month Adar, which was in the sixth year of the reign of Darius the king." Nearly 50,000 Jews had returned to Judah with Zerubbabel. "And the children of Israel, the priests, and the Levites, and the rest of the children of the captivity, kept the dedication of this House of God with joy."

Now Nehemiah had been made cup-bearer to Artaxerxes, the reigning king of that time. He evidently was of a cheerful disposition, so when he appeared before the king with a sad face the king questioned him.

"Why should not my countenance be sad, when the city, the place of my fathers' sepulchres, lieth waste, and the gates thereof are consumed with fire?"

He asked the king if he might be allowed to return to Judah and build the walls of Jerusalem. The king asked how long before he would return. We are not told the answer, but the king let him go and gave him letters to the governors of that land and to the keeper of the king's forest, so that he might have timber to build the walls.

Nehemiah took a few men with him and went to Jerusalem. He looked at the broken-down wall, at the gates that were consumed by fire, and at last he told the Jews and priests and rulers of what he proposed to do, and they laughed him to scorn.

In spite of discouragements rebuilding was begun, but these same men who had laughed at Nehemiah's plans decided to interfere and prevent the rebuilding if they could.

Jehovah was on the side of His people, however, and although the workmen had to do their labor armed to prevent what we now call sabotage, the work was finished.

Even then Nehemiah's enemies

The Pulitzer Prizes There are 1772 daily newspapers in the United States and, roughly, about 12 Pulitzer Prizes in Journalism awarded each year. . . . Thus, by barest mathematical count, the chances are about 150 to 1 against any paper winning a Pulitzer Prize and, of course, much higher against any working reporter gaining such recognition.

But the laws of mathematics cease operation, quite remarkably, when it comes to the Pulitzer Awards. . . . There are 12 members on its advisory committee, and six of their reporters or publications got Pulitzer Prizes. That means the odds of a Pulitzer Award are about even money for papers or people represented on the Pulitzer Advisory Committee—and about 300 to 1 against those not represented. . . . In this reporter's opinion, it also represents—about 10,000 to 1—that a shocking favoritism is being shown.

For example, after stating that the Advisory Board does not make any award "to an individual member," the Board proceeded to do exactly that in these left-handed words: "whereas the outstanding instance of national reporting in 1950 was Arthur Krock's obtaining of an exclusive interview with the President, be it resolved that the Board make no award in the national reporting category." . . . In short, the Advisory Board declared Board Member Krock first, with no seconds, and, with tongue in cheek, then announced it had made no award at all. . . . That's worse than bad judging. It isn't even good reporting of the Board's own activities.

Whether or not an exclusive handout is a Pulitzer Prize winner is debatable. All Krock had to do was go over and pick up a story that the President wanted printed. . . . Being the President's favorite outlet, however, doesn't necessarily mean a man is a Pulitzer Prize reporter, any more than Harry Vaughans' ability to coax two stars out of the President bested to do away with him. They sent messengers inviting him to meet them to discuss matters with him, but he was wise and sent word that he could not come to such a meeting because he was too busy. He knew that these foes wished to meet him alone and that they would kill him.

Ten came the day of triumph, the work was finished and all the people gathered together in the street before the water gate, and they asked Ezra, the scribe, to bring the book of the law of Moses.

Ezra brought the book and he and others read the law to the listening people, and they were all attentive and the laws were explained to them.

After that the people were told to obtain olive branches, pine branches, palm branches and the branches of thick trees and make themselves booths, and sit in the booths and eat and drink and be merry.

Later there was a great revival when, after fasting, the people dressed themselves in sackcloth and confessed their sins and promised to cleave to the Lord and to do His will.

Among the enemies who harassed the Jews in their building of the walls of the city, was Geshem of Arabia, which is a coincidence, because today the people of Israel and the Arabs are enemies.

Memory Verse — "They that wait for Jehovah shall renew their strength; they shall mount up with wings as eagles; they shall run, and not be weary; they shall walk, and not faint."—Isaiah 40:31.

dent makes him a Pulitzer Prize Major-General.

The fact is that if Arthur Krock wanted to honorably carry out the current traditions of the Pulitzer Prizes, he should have nominated Mr. Truman for the Music Pulitzer, in return for Mr. Truman earning him the Journalistic one.

In the very next resolution, moreover, the Special Advisory Board gave Cyrus K. Sulzberger a special citation for his exclusive interview with Archbishop Stepinac. There is absolutely no connection between Arthur Krock and Cyrus K. Sulzberger except that Cyrus Sulzberger's uncle is Arthur Krock's boss on the N. Y. Times, and absolutely no connection between Columbia University and the Sulzbergers except that Mr. Arthur Hayes Sulzberger, publisher of the N. Y. Times, is one of Columbia's trustees who make the Award.

Looking at Life

By Erich Brandeis

Brandeis

What a wonderful feeling it gives a fellow to hear somebody say something good about our present times!

Have you noticed how it has become the fashion to criticize and carp?

Nothing is right any longer. The world is going to the dogs. We are told. Morality has almost reached bottom. There are corruption and graft. That's what we hear and read every day.

The home is a thing of the past. Family life is disrupted.

One would almost believe that this is not the United States of America but Sodom and Gomorrah.

But now comes Stanley P. Davies, general director of the Community Service Society of New York, and tells us that life in America is getting BETTER and not worse.

Davies has made a thorough study of the American home and family. That is his business.

He tells us to stop worrying about the "four D's"—divorce, desertion, discord, delinquency.

He warns against taking STATISTICS as FACTS without knowing the story behind the statistics.

Divorce figures, for instance, are usually given in relation to the number of marriages for the same year. But that is not an accurate picture.

The number of divorces for a given year are not broken marriages that were contracted in the same year.

As an example Davies cited the divorce rate for 1946—eighteen divorces for every thousand marriages.

But many of those divorces were of marriages contracted during World War II. We all know that there was a terrific rush to the altar during those years—and naturally, many of those quick marriages were mis-marriages. Two years later, in 1948, the divorce rate was only 12 for every 1000 marriages.

Perhaps the word "only" is a misnomer. Twelve out of 1000 is bad enough—but, thank goodness, it isn't getting worse.

About parent-child relationship Davies isn't very much worried either.

"There is a definite trend away from the patriarchal, authoritarian, disciplinary type of family," he says. "The tendency is toward a more democratic relationship between parent and children."

Parents are beginning to understand that children, too, are human beings, and WISE parents try to be their children's friends rather than their bosses and rulers.

Most of the delinquency of juveniles occurs in families that still have the old-fashioned ideas about the place of children in the home.

Modern parents realize that the development of the human being begins with an early age. The mother or father who expects his son or daughter to fit into the mold of a past generation must expect trouble.

Delinquency comes not only from neglect but from trying to stop progress.

Child education is one thing. Adult education is another.

Adult education, according to Davies, must consist of a better understanding of human relations, of social and economic changes, of MODERN LIVING.

Why Butchers Go Mad

"You are required by Section 3 of the regulations to apply the mark-up given in Table A to the most recent delivered cost before the effective date of regulations. The resulting amount will be the ceiling price. However, Section 3 (a) of each regulation provides that, with respect to each item of the 1950 pack of food commodity, Groups 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 32 and 33, under Table A, both retailers and wholesalers may continue to use the legal ceiling for each item under the General Ceiling Price Regulation if their last purchase was made prior to January 26. Of course the ceiling price for any item that falls under commodity Groups 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 32 and 33 which is purchased after January 26 must be figured by the provisions of these regulations."

Aristides Schwartz, our butcher was reading "Title 32A, Chapter 3, OPS." "Yes, but is that daylight saving?" he asked, scratching his head. "and suppose Wednesday comes twice that week and falls on Monday?"

"Table A is plainly the trouble spot," we suggested, always willing to help in a dilemma. "Anything can happen there and Section 3 (a) takes careful handling, especially in the short shank or brisket areas."

"What about Groups 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 32 and 33?" asked the butcher, looking at a cleaver with a certain violence of expression.

"That could be a football signal put in for purposes of bewilderment," we suggested. "The 8, 9, and 10 are familiar but I don't recall meeting 11, 12 and 13 up to the time the party broke up anyhow. Is everything clear?"

"What innings are we playing?" asked Schwartz, rolling back a lamb's tongue.

"Either 32 or 33," we said.

"Who's up?" demanded the butcher.

"Rib roast, and there may be a bunt. Call in the infield," we suggested.

"If before January 26, yes, otherwise no," said Schwartz. "But there is always the question of hamburger as of May 3, 4, 5, 6 and 7 minus April 10, 11, 13, 21 and 26, unless one of 'em falls on Sunday in which case I don't open."

"All right, I'll open on a small pair for one chip," we said.

"I'll raise you a couple of Commodity Groups," said Schwartz, "but the lady says she wants a T-bone. So what zone am I under CPR 25 OPS and how about a can of corn if my store differentials are what we think?"

"That brings us to Section 30. How To Determine Your Group. Groups 1 to 4 exclusive of 3B and 4B which have been called on account of darkness," we explained the best we could. "The whole thing could be simplified if you would close this meat store and open a fish market."

"In the halibut groups 8, 9, 10, 11 and 12," said the butcher, now quite mad, "or the soft-shelled crab groups 13 and 14 and 15?"

"I'll take shad roe in groups 13, 32 and 33 if caught prior to January 26, but not later than half past Friday of week before last," we said, too far gone ourselves to be of any help.

Bridal Shower Held For June Bride-To-Be

A bridal shower was held in honor of Miss Constance Hartzell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clair Hartzell of 516 North Courtland St., given by her sisters, Vivian and Patricia.

Miss Hartzell will become the bride of Graydon T. Nevil, son of Mr. and Mrs. Graydon Nevil of 148 Day St., on June 16.

Gifts had been placed beneath an umbrella trimmed in pink and green and refreshments were served.

Guests included Mrs. Harry Walton, Mrs. Graydon Nevil, Mrs. Harry Bush Sr., Mrs. Roy Lloyd, Mrs. Harold Treible, Mrs. Harold Anthony, Mrs. Foster Miller, Mrs. Glen Miller, Mrs. Clifford Kintz, Mrs. Bernard Fish, Miss Marie Fisher, Mrs. Eileen Stauffer, Mrs. George Lesoine, Miss Jean Kishpaugh, Mrs. James Fisher, Miss Mary Alice Jones, Miss Patricia Walton, and Bonnie Treible.

Those who sent gifts but were unable to attend were: Mrs. Donald Lesoine, Mrs. Henry Lesoine, Mrs. Otto Lesoine, Mrs. David Jones.

Bible School Faculty Is Announced

Plans have been completed for the interdenominational Daily Vacation Bible school which will be held at the Fifth Street Mission from June 11 through 22.

There will be classes from beginners through the intermediate classes, and a transportation system has been set up to care for those from the Monroe Carbon trail section. A station wagon will pick up the children at Baylor's store, North Ninth St., and at Fifth and Main Sts. Parents who have not arranged transportation may call 2161-R.

The faculty has also requested that mothers sending pre-school children to the beginner's department attach a slip with their name, address, age, date of birth, and their parents' names. It was also announced that Clearview school children who have school on June 11 will not be counted absent if they are unable to be present for that first day.

Teachers in the various departments are as follows:

Beginners: Mrs. Marion Serfass, Mrs. Sebring, Miss Elaine Koehler, Mrs. Aaron Strohmeyer, Miss Lauretta Altomero and Mrs. James Marsh.

Primary: Mrs. J. R. Cairns, Mrs. J. Albert, Mrs. Betty Miller, Mrs. J. Hazen.

Juniors: Rev. J. R. Cairns, Mrs. T. Martz, Mrs. G. Scoble and J. Hazen.

Intermediates: Mrs. John Neupert and Mrs. Gladys Metzgar.

Stork Shower At Smith Home For Mrs. Mosteller

May Procession At St. Mary Of The Mount Church
Mount Pocono — The annual May procession followed by the crowning of the Blessed Mother was held at St. Mary of the Mount R. C. Church on Sunday, May 27 at 3 p. m.

The children of St. Mary's parish and St. Joan of Arc, Pocono, participated in the procession. Miss Mary Schneider, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Schneider, Swiftwater, was May Queen with Misses Joan Vlossak, Rose Ann Freach and Jeanene Schneider serving as the attendants. The crown bearers were Alice Vance and Catherine Murtaugh.

Following the procession and crowning, Father Gerald Ryan, Honesdale, gave an inspiring sermon on the "Blessed Mother" after which the benediction of the blessed sacrament took place with Father John Ferguson of the local parish as the celebrant.

The choir of St. Joan of Arc Church, Pocono, sang during the procession and benediction.

Hospital, Blood Program, Servicemen Keep Local Red Cross Chapter Active

The Monroe county chapter of the American Red Cross held its regular executive meeting at headquarters last night following the ceremony of the presentation of the medical society award to one of its members, Mrs. LeRoy Koehler.

Mrs. Koehler, having caught her breath, reported that during the month of May 61 volunteers had given 813 and three-quarters hours of service, with the General hospital receiving more than 618 of those hours and the blood bank 195 hours of service. The Grey Lady service gave the largest numbers of hours with the canteen service next, and the registered nurses, staff aides, nurses aides, motor service and administration aids all helping with the volunteer special services during the month.

The service to servicemen and their dependents was also active during the month. Mrs. Ida B. Kunkle, executive secretary, showed in her report where 26 of the 30 cases during the month involved active service cases. Twenty telegrams, 9 long distance telephone calls were made on behalf of servicemen and their families; there were 21 home visits and 128 office calls. Nine transient veterans received help; and nine persons were referred to the used clothing room. There were 22 new cases and 25 interviews not considered as cases.

LeRoy Mikels reported on the status of the blood program in the county which to date has met all local needs as well as filled its quota for the military and for civilian defense.

George T. Robinson, chapter chairman, presided at the meeting and welcomed Arlington W. Williams, new vice chairman, to his first meeting.

Miss Charmarie Jenkins

Miss Jenkins Graduates At School

Charmarie Jenkins, daughter of Edward Cope Jenkins of The Inn, Buck Hill Falls, is one of 110 seniors who are to receive diplomas from Headmaster Richard McFeely at the 57th annual commencement at George School in Bucks County. Madame Vijaya Lakshmi Pandit, Ambassador of India to the United States and sister of Prime Minister Nehru, will deliver the main address at the exercises on June 9.

"Charm" was a member of various committees and secretary-treasurer of the Student Public Relations Committee, as well as being girls sports editor of the Yearbook and playing on the Varsity hockey team. Active in dramatics, she worked on make-up for several plays and recently took part in an experimental production of "Laughter of the Gods" by Lord Dunsany. She has been accepted for entrance at Connecticut College for Women.

Cowboys, Indians Rampant At Party For 4-Year-Old

Bushkill — A whooping good time was had by the children at the cowboy and Indian party held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Barr, Bushkill, on May 27 to celebrate the fourth birthday of their daughter, Debbie.

The cowboy and Indian theme was carried throughout the party with Indian head-dresses and cap pistols for both the boys and girls and a birthday cake topped by a cowboy.

Debbie received many gifts and cards and games and refreshments were enjoyed. The following were the guests: Jeannie Eyer, Gregory Turn, Dierdre McAuliffe, Barry Weiss, Jimmie Bunell, Linda Ahner, Barbara De Pue, Germaine Stiner, David Ahner, Chubby Lauber, David Luttrell, Susan Barr, and the guest of honor, Debbie Barr. Invited but unable to attend were: Douglas Butz and Jimmie Getz.

May Procession At St. Mary Of The Mount Church

Mount Pocono — The annual May procession followed by the crowning of the Blessed Mother was held at St. Mary of the Mount R. C. Church on Sunday, May 27 at 3 p. m.

The children of St. Mary's parish and St. Joan of Arc, Pocono, participated in the procession. Miss Mary Schneider, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Schneider, Swiftwater, was May Queen with Misses Joan Vlossak, Rose Ann Freach and Jeanene Schneider serving as the attendants. The crown bearers were Alice Vance and Catherine Murtaugh.

Following the procession and crowning, Father Gerald Ryan, Honesdale, gave an inspiring sermon on the "Blessed Mother" after which the benediction of the blessed sacrament took place with Father John Ferguson of the local parish as the celebrant.

The choir of St. Joan of Arc Church, Pocono, sang during the procession and benediction.

Use old-fashioned dark molasses sometimes to sweeten cooked cereal. Prunes and figs are also good added to cooked oatmeal or farina.

Card Part At Barrett Monday

To Meet Monday

The Dames of Malta will meet Monday night in the Malta Temple at 8 p. m. The Protectors will fill the chairs and the Queen Emma Siegler requests a large attendance.

Just Between Us
—By Bobby Westbrook

That smoke you see curling above the column is just me burning out my bearings. It was one of those nights when the typewriter got so hot it burned to the touch, when everything went wrong that could go wrong, and mislaid notes turned up in the most unlikely places.

However, guess we won't try living it over because it had its compensations. Met Mrs. Toni Maxwell and her daughter Rima back in the county, and learned that Rima has graduated from high school at fifteen with a scholarship to Mt. Holyoke and a medal from the French government for first prize in French.

Saw the cutest telegrams from Mrs. John A. LeBar and Jim enroute to see Ann in Seattle. Seems they were every night what their destination will be the next day, and they got sort of confused and skipped over half the continent. Amzi and John were just getting out the Atlas to see how come when the second telegram arrived correcting the first one.

And puzzled all day over a cryptic remark on the outside of a letter to my husband that said "Quite wrong, it's the 25th". But I had to wait until he got home to find out that it was the Rev. Arthur Henderson who said inside he'd be here the 18th.

Anyway it's a comfort to learn that other people get confused too.

New York Couple Married At Local Lutheran Church

A quiet, Springtime wedding was performed at St. John's Lutheran church on Friday morning at 10 o'clock when the Rev. F. N. Wohlsen, D.D., pastor, united Julius Ralph Valentino and Miss Kathryn Alice Wolf in matrimony.

The double ring ceremony was used before the candle lit altar. The bride was attired in a white linen traveling suit wearing a shoulder bouquet of white orchids and a picture hat to match. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Cherington Wolf of Northampton, Pa. and is a graduate of Northampton High school.

At the present time she is employed at Laguardia Field in New York.

The bridegroom is also an employee of the TWA air lines at LaGuardia Field. After a honeymoon in the Poconos they will make their home in their newly-furnished apartment at Jackson Heights, New York City.

State Ends Biennium With Surplus

Harrisburg (AP)—Gov. John S. Fine said yesterday a new general fund surplus of $17,918,453 underlined the accuracy of his budget estimates for the next two years.

The Commonwealth's surplus for the two-year fiscal period ended Thursday represents the excess of revenue over expenditures.

A report from Dr. Edward B. Logan, the Governor's budget secretary, showed the surplus to be $7,891,896 higher than estimated, primarily because of a $4,000,000 inheritance tax windfall from two large estates.

"The report shows the falseness of the statements that have been made by those who have opposed the administration's tax program," said Fine in a statement.

His tax program is featured by a proposal for a one-half of one per cent personal income tax. The House is languishing in the Senate Finance committee because of controversial levy, passed by the opposition from a bloc of 11 Republican senators.

Some of the senators have criticized Fine's budget on the basis of an over-estimation of expenses and an under-estimation of revenues.

The Governor claimed that the $119,000,000 income tax is needed to balance his $1,220,000,000 budget for the next two years.

Fine already has signed into law a bill to increase the four per cent corporate net income tax to five per cent to raise an additional $44,000,000.

The nearly $18,000,000 surplus compares with the figure of $10,000,000, estimated by Fine in his budget message to the Legislature last March 19.

As a result, he said, lawmakers must still provide some $111,000,000 in additional tax money if his budget for the next two years is to be balanced.

The Governor forecast, however, that the surplus will be more than absorbed by legislative appropriations not included in his budget.

One example, he said, was teachers' salaries. The House is now considering a bill to increase school costs by $73,000,000 in the next two years of which $47,000,000 already is provided in the Fine budget. The remaining $26,000,000 would have to come from increased taxes or reduced appropriations. "The actual figures at the end of the biennium are conclusive evidence that our estimates on which the budget was built were factually correct and that we are within reason in our forecasts for the next two years," said Fine.

Child Tumbles Three Stories, Escapes Injury

New York (AP)—Two-year-old Harry Danciger, anxious about his breakfast, crawled out of his crib yesterday and tumbled three and a half stories from a window of his Brooklyn home.

His mother said he apparently became eager for his morning milk feeding, and climbed to the window ledge. He landed on a concrete courtyard. Doctors could find nothing wrong with him—except he was still hungry.

19 Indicted In $2 Million Bank Swindle

Syracuse, N. Y. (AP)—A Federal district grand jury yesterday indicted 19 persons, including several Syracuse businessmen, in connection with alleged unauthorized overdrafts totaling $2,100,000 on the Syracuse Trust Co.

Two former bookkeepers of the bank, already under arrest, and an Auburn radio and television dealer also were among those indicted.

The grand jury reported to Judge James T. Foley, after a five-week investigation into reported irregularities.

The two former bookkeepers, Bernard E. Klock, 37, and Leslie J. Root Jr., 29, are charged with "misapplication of monies, funds and credits of the bank, and aiding and abetting and conspiring to defraud."

Indicted on the same charge was Jackson M. Potter, one of Syracuse's largest real estate dealers.

Indictment on June 7, at 2:30 o'clock in the social room of the church, Mrs. Charles Beck and Mrs. Ralph Hirstine will be the hostess for the afternoon.

Dr. and Mrs. Leonard Rushin and son, Drew, moved on Tuesday to Bangor, into the home they recently purchased there. Dr. Rushin, a former dentist in Portland, is now practicing in Bangor.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Higgins and daughter visited several days this week with Mrs. Higgins' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Halpin, in Scranton.

Mrs. Charles Dunbar returned to her home of State St., on Memorial Day after spending the winter with her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kennedy, of Belaire, Long Island, N. Y. She was accompanied home by her daughter, Mrs. Kennedy, who will visit in Portland for several days.

Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Warrick, of Bethlehem, visited on Tuesday with their cousins, Mrs. Frank Oliver and Mrs. Gertrude Oyer.

Mrs. Gertrude Oyer has received word that her son, Cpl. Lawrence Hester, of the 299th Eng. Edwy Bridge Corp, was injured in Korea. Cpl. Hester suffered a leg injury while unloading logs preparatory to the building of a bridge.

Mrs. E. Randall Carpenter and Mrs. Wayne Van Vorst were Stroudsburg visitors on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. William Sprich and George Colburn, of Washington, N. J., and Mr. and Mrs. Lewis H. Beam, of Bath, spent the holiday with Mr. and Mrs. E. Randall Carpenter.

John Davies and daughter, Miss Adele Davies, of Philadelphia, former residents of Portland, renewed friendships in town on Decoration Day.

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Hutcheon have returned home after spending several days at Penn State College, State College, where they visited with their son Wallace, Jr., a student at the college.

Taproom-Club Bill Stirs Controversy

Harrisburg (AP)—A storm of controversy yesterday surrounded legislation to permit taprooms to remain open until 2 a.m. Sunday but to close clubs at the same hour.

The bill is up for action in the Senate next week. Chairman A. H. Letzler (R-Clearfield) of the Senate Law and Order committee, declined, however, to forecast its ultimate fate.

"The measure has drawn some opposition," Letzler said, "but some sort of compromise may be effected next week."

Dr. O. B. Poulson, secretary of the Pennsylvania Temperance league, said his group is opposed to permitting any liquor dispensers to stay open later.

A spokesman for club operators said the operators were not opposed to allowing public bars to stay open later but were against closing clubs earlier than the present 3 a.m. deadline.

"If hotels and taverns want to stay open later why not pass such legislation separately?" asked Berton J. Murphy, Reading, president of the Pennsylvania Federation of Fraternal and Social Organizations.

In other legislation, the clubs are standing solidly behind a House bill to give county courts final jurisdiction in liquor license suspension cases and liquor disputes. The bill comes to a vote next week.

"We favor having the courts substitute their discretion for that of the State Liquor Control board—an administrative, not judicial, agency," Murphy said.

Other House bills which may gain committee approval next week would ban State liquor stores.

Life of Riley

By JIM RILEY
Sports Editor

Pocono A. C. apparently had the game with Johnsonville well under control at the end of the third inning on Thursday night, sporting a 5-0 lead at Gordon Giffels field. However, the home club either eased up too soon or too much and had to break a 5-all tie to win by a 6-5 count, thanks to some near perfect hurling by Clint Breescker in the last two frames of the twilight contest. Although everyone at the park had some anxious moments, Manager John Schoonover is to be complimented for not allowing his team to run over the hapless Johnsonville crew.

The scores by which Johnsonville has been taking it on the chin have not only hurt that club and the Blue Mountain League, but leave each spectator with a sick feeling down deep in his stomach. Baseball games weren't meant to be decided by 20 runs, but Johnsonville has been on the short end of the score by this margin on at least two occasions this season. Piling up the score may be fun for the team doing it, but often times the same club receives a dose of its own medicine and believe me—it's not nearly as pleasant.

However, the weak hitting ability of the A. C. contingent of late does give one and all something to worry about, especially since the Schoonovermen clash in a battle for first place with East Bangor tomorrow, at East Bangor. Pocono A. C. is currently holding the upper hand by one-half game, with East Bangor and Roseto tied for the number two spot, one-half game off the pace. Roseto's chances of at least sharing a first or second place berth on Sunday night rest with Portland, the club that plays host to Roseto tomorrow afternoon.

Youngsters of Monroe County and surrounding territory will undoubtedly receive a chance to please some major league scouts, when the Philadelphia Phillies hold a three-day school at Gordon Giffels field late this month. The program will become official when approval for the use of the field is given by the Stroudsburg school board. Doug Schoonover, left fielder for Pocono A. C., is still hampered by a charley-horse picked up earlier in the season and reported to a doctor last Monday. Doug is returning to Stroudsburg for the summer on Saturday, to take up his annual playground duties. Schoonover is currently coaching at Fairview Township High, at Mountain Top, Pa.

Jack Rothenhauser, onetime pitcher and outfielder for the Stroudsburg Poconos, recently blasted a home run with two mates aboard for Lakeland, of the class "B" Florida International League, but received credit for only two runs batted in. It seems as if one of the runners was declared out for failing to touch third base. Rothenhauser had been given his release by Lakeland, of the class "B" Carolina League, earlier this season. Rothenhauser is now opposing Ben Chapman, his pilot at Danville last year. Chapman is currently managing the Tampa Smokers, also of the Florida International League.

Reports from Evansville, Ind. indicate that Harry Warner, former first baseman for the Poconos, is hitting over .290 for the Boston Braves' farm in the class "B" Three I League. Four members of the Warner family are currently spending several days with Harry, who is a resident of Reeder's in the off-season. Keith Kelley, hurler with Hazleton, North Atlantic League, last year, was one of two Negroes honored at Lancaster by the Pennsylvania Elks recently. Kelley is having a successful campaign with the Brooklyn farm club in the class "B" Inter-State League at the present time.

Johnny Jones, who made two appearances at Gordon Giffels field while the Poconos were still in operation, continues to draw big crowds to the ball parks. Jones recently helped to set an attendance record at San Angelo, Tex., of the class "C" Longhorn League, where 3,838 people attended one game. On each of his two appearances at Gordon Giffels field Jones attracted capacity crowds with his exploding bats and giant gloves.

Harry Armitage, former football star and baseball player at Stroudsburg High, is now stationed with the army at Camp Breckenridge, in the blue grass country of Kentucky. Sid Effron, resident of Portland and coach of Blairtown High school, has been named president of the Warren County Little League for the coming year. The choice was made at the annual Little Four banquet on Thursday night, at Great Meadows, N. J.

George Pfister, manager of Hazleton, North Atlantic League, last year, has caught ten games for Montreal, International League, this season and is currently hitting .348. Statington won the District 11 baseball title on Thursday, when Ted Wicand hurled a 2-0 victory over Portland, giving the Lehigh Valley League the verdict over the Lehigh-Northampton circuit.

East Stroudsburg Takes Measure Of Norristown, 12-4

Penn-Stroud Triumphs Over People's Coal

Penn-Stroud Hotel showed better stamina than People's Coal last night, and won a Stroudsburg Little League game at Stroudsburg Playgrounds, 22-15, in an old-fashioned slugfest.

There was at least one run scored in every inning, with four being the most common number.

Both clubs scored one time in the first frame, but Penn-Stroud blasted the contest wide open with eight markers in the top of the second, moving into a lead it never relinquished.

Francis "Fritz" Hasara led the Penn-Stroud Hotel attack with a perfect five-for-five game at the plate, including four doubles, while Paul Frailey was the big gun for People's Coal.

There is no action in the Stroudsburg Little League tonight, but Stroudsburg Security Trust and Penn-Stroud Hotel clash at the playground on Monday, at 6:30.

Braves Triumph Over Cubs, 3-2

Boston (AP) — With several members of the 1914 miracle team cheering them on the Boston Braves last night clipped the Chicago Cubs 3-2. Johnny Sain pitched nine hit balls in winning his third victory against five defeats before a paid crowd of 9,591. The loss was charged to the starting Bob Schultz whose throwing error in the seventh inning aided the Tribe to two runs.

Reds Down Dodgers, 6-5

Brooklyn (AP) — Joe Adcock singled home two runs in the ninth inning last night to clinch a three-run rally that enabled the Cincinnati Reds to defeat the Brooklyn Dodgers, 6-5. Adcock started the Cincinnati scoring with a homer in the second inning. Gil Hodges and "Pee Wee" Reese homered for the Dodgers.

Roseto Downs Johnsonville To Move Into Second Place Tie

Roseto—A patched-up lineup gave Roseto A. A. a 9-4 victory over Johnsonville here at Roseto Park last night and enabled the winning aggregation to move into a second place tie with East Bangor in the Blue Mountain League, one-half game behind pace setting Pocono A. C. Last night's encounter was halted after five innings because of darkness.

The home team took a 2-0 lead in the first inning, but there were a few scattered hits in the crowd as Johnsonville pounded Joe Casciano for four markers in the second frame before Dick Pritchard could come on the scene and put out the fire.

However, Roseto got back into the groove in the third scoring one time. The home club then moved into the lead with two in the fourth and put the contest on ice with four in the fifth before darkness made further play impossible.

Manager Hal Nerino, Len Castellucci, Dominic DeFranco and Joe D'Imperio led the Roseto attack with two hits each while Bill Onjack had a pair of safeties for Johnsonville.

There were no extra base blows in the contest.

Yankees Halted By Rain Storm

Detroit (AP) — The New York Yankees got within three outs of whipping the Detroit Tigers last night but the rain washed it all out in the fifth inning as Detroit's largest crowd of the season huddled in the stands.

A crowd of 48,176 saw the Yankees surge to a 4-1 lead after four and a half innings of play. Then the rains came. In order to have the game recognized as complete, Detroit would have had to bat in the fifth inning.

Homers Wasted
John Mize of the Yankees hit his first homer of the season and Vic Wertz of the Tigers hit his ninth but neither of them will go into the official records.

Charitable Six
The scorekeeper gave him a charitable six while the Frenchman penciled another four on the scoreboard. The thirtieth, also went to De La Maza, who birdied it by sinking an eight-foot putt.

The Brookline socialite pulled himself together there and the next four holes were halved with the match ending on the thirty-fourth.

Maglie Gains Eighth Straight Mound Victory

New York (AP) — Sal Maglie coasted to his eighth straight victory of the season last night as he pitched the New York Giants to a 8-2 triumph over the Pittsburgh Pirates. The Giants supported Maglie's classy pitching with a 13 hit attack that included home runs by Bob Thomson and 'Whitey' Lockman.

The victory made the 33-year-old righthander high man in the National League. Maglie allowed the Bucs five hits. One was a homer by Danny Murtaugh in the fifth inning for the first Pittsburgh run. The other Pirate tally came on a triple by Pete Reiser to open the eighth. Ralph Kiner followed with a long fly to center.

In the meantime the Giants slammed out 11 hits off southpaw Cliff Chambers, who was chased in the fifth.
Leo Durocher's boys bunched six of their hits for four runs in the third. Thomson's eighth homer of the year with Wes Westrum aboard in the fifth inning brought two more tallies and sent Chambers to the showers.

Lackman accounted for the final two New York runs when he drove one of Rookie Bill Koski's pitches into the upper rightfield stands in the bottom of the eighth to score Eddie Stanky ahead of him.

Cleveland (AP) — Early Wynn's three-hit pitching gave the Cleveland Indians a 2 to 1 victory over Washington and their fifth straight win last night, the Tribe's longest victory string of the season.

Until the last of the eighth, Wynn and the Indians were trailing Washington and Julio Moreno, 1 to 0. Moreno had allowed only two hits at that point, both by Al Rosen—a double in the fifth and a single in the seventh.

Then Harry Simpson, batting for Jim Hagen, singled to open the bottom of the eighth. Wynn sacrificed and George Stinewiss walked. Dale Mitchell, pinch hitting for Ray Boone, threw his bat at a three-and-two pitch for a single which brought in Simpson. Larry Doby then lifted a high fly, Stinewiss scoring the winning run.

Washington's run came in the second, when Mickey Vernon stretched a hit to three bases as Bob Kennedy misjudged his liner, the Washington first-sacker coming home as Stinewiss threw out Sam Mele.

Layne-Marciano Date Changed

New York (AP) — Heavyweight contenders Rex Layne of Lewistown, Utah, and "Rocky" Marciano of Brockton, Mass., will meet on either July 11 or July 25 instead of the original July 18 date.

The change is being made because heavyweight champion Ezzard Charles signed to defend his crown against Jersey Joe Walcott in Pittsburgh on July 18.

Telecast
The Walcott-Charles fight will be telecast over a network hookup and thus the two shows would conflict. The Marciano-Layne bout will be held at the Yankee Stadium.

Harry Markson, managing director of the International Boxing Club, said "we would prefer to hold the fight on the 11th but we haven't talked to Marv Jensen (Layne's manager) yet and we would like to know which date he prefers."

Phils Open Home Stand With Victory Over Cardinals, 7-3

Philadelphia (AP) — The Philadelphia Phillies scored five runs on five hits, including three doubles and a triple in the seventh inning to beat the St. Louis Cardinals tonight, 7 to 3.
Jocko Thompson gained credit for his second victory although he needed help from reliefer Jim Konstanty in the ninth.

Thompson allowed the Cardinals only four hits in eight innings, leaving in favor of Konstanty with two on and none out in the ninth.

The Phillies' ace relief pitcher retired the side without any damage.
Victim
The Cardinal righthander, Jerry Staley, was the victim in the Phils' big seventh inning.

All of Staley's woes began after two were out. Granny Hamner and Andy Seminick hit back to back doubles to break a 1-1 tie. After Mike Goliat was passed purposely Thompson tripled to drive home two runs. A single by Eddie Waitkus and double by Richie Ashburn accounted for the final tallies.

The Phils' first run came in the second on a double by Del Ennis, a single by Willie Jones and Hamner's double play ball. The final Phil run in the eighth was on a single by Hamner and Stan Musial's error and a single by Seminick.

Thompson blanked the Cardinals until the seventh when Billie Johnson homered into the leftfield stands. They added two more in the eighth on Stan Rokjok's triple, a single by Red Schoendienst a walk and two outfield flies.

DeMarco Wins Easy Verdict

New York (AP) — Bully boy Paddy De Marco slammed out a unanimous ten-round decision over veteran Eddie Giosa of Philadelphia last night at St. Nicholas Arena. De Marco weighed 138, Giosa 139.

De Marco outscored Giosa with body punches in the early rounds but ran into a few long right hand punches in the late rounds. Giosa rallied strong against the 22-year-old Brooklyn battler in the eighth and ninth.

Small Crowd
The house for this TV "studio show" was 1,021 fans paying $2.00. Each fighter got more from TV, $2,250 each, than the whole show pulled at the gate.

De Marco, taking his first tough hurdle since he was sidelined for six months with pneumonia, is aiming at a bout with James Carter, the new lightweight champ.

Referee Barney Felix had it 6-3-1, Judge Jed Gahan 6-4 and Judge Bill Healy 9-1. There were no knockdowns.

Burk Signed By Grid Eagles

Philadelphia (AP) — Adrian Matthew Burk, who led the nation's collegiate forward passers in 1949 while at Baylor University, will play quarterback for the 1951 Philadelphia Eagles in the National Football league, it was announced last night, after Burk inked a contract.

Burk, who resigned as assistant backfield coach at the University of Florida yesterday, flew here from Gainesville to sign a contract and attend an Eagles' luncheon.

The Eagles secured the rights to Burk in a trade with the Washington Redskins. The Redskins had drafted Burk last January from the defunct Baltimore Colts.

Deal
Sent to Washington in the deal was Jack Dwyer, halfback drafted from Loyola (Los Angeles) College.

Burk joined the coaching staff at University of Florida in February. Reports from Gainesville had him signing a three-year contract with the Eagles calling for $36,000. The Eagles did not mention salary terms.

Burke, 23, is married and makes his home in Joinville, Texas.

Surveyors Gain Verdict

Tobyhanna—Swartz's Surveyors took the measure of Kemper's Draftsmen in a softball game on the Coolbaugh High field last night, 11-10. Members of both teams are surveying and making plans for the new signal depot.

Madden and Bempkins formed the winning battery, while Vitale pitched and Smith caught for the losers. The umpires were Frank "Cowboy" Swartz and Joe Moran.

Brooklyn Recalls Hurler

Brooklyn (AP) — The Brooklyn Dodgers yesterday recalled pitcher "Bud" Podbielan from their Montreal farm in the International league and sent lefty Chris Van Cuyk to take his place with the Royals.

Sommers Leads All-Star Nine To Victory

Canadensis—East Stroudsburg's All-Stars were entirely too much for the Norristown All-Stars here on the Barrett High school field yesterday, as the Monroe County contingent scored a 12-4 victory behind the four-hit pitching of Bill Sommers. The Little League baseball game was part of the Exchange Club State Convention at the Inn, at Buck Hill Falls.

Sommers not only pitched a creditable four hit contest, but the youthful left hander blasted out four safeties on his own account in the same number of trips to the plate, including a pair of home runs, a double and a single.

One of Sommers' circuit blows was a line drive over the right fielder's head, while the second four-ply wallop was hit into deepest center field, as in the neighborhood of 350 people watched the contest.

East Stroudsburg broke a scoreless deadlock in the third frame when the home team pushed nine runs across the plate, taking a lead it never relinquished.

Additional Runs
The host contingent then added one more counter in the fourth and two in the fifth, while Norristown tallied all of its four runs in the sixth and final frame.

Sommers, who hurled a no-hit contest for East Stroudsburg Junior High school recently, retired 14 Norristown batters on strikes and gave up four walks.

Beginning with the first batter in the second inning, Sommers retired Norristown on strikes, and in order, until the second hitter in the fifth frame.

Nauman Leads In Gross Scores

Buck Hill Falls—C. A. "Phiz" Nauman, member of the East Stroudsburg Exchange Club, picked up first prize among the gross scores in the golf tournament held here yesterday as part of the Exchange Club State Convention program currently in swing at this resort.

Local Entries
Nauman toured the rolling 18 hole layout in 84 strokes to drag down first place in that department. The only other golfers taking part in the tournament from the local club were Charley Schaller and Paul Lloyd.

However, a total of 40 Exchange members from all portions of the state took part in the action.

Complete reports of the tournament results were not available at a late hour last night.

Possible Change

Los Angeles (AP) — Possibility that the highly controversial free substitution rule in football may be abolished in the Pacific Coast Conference was hinted yesterday.

Pocono A.C. At East Bangor

First Place At Stake In League Action

Pocono A.C. and East Bangor will clash tomorrow with first place at stake in the Blue Mountain league, on the East Bangor field. The contest, like all afternoon battles in the circuit, will begin promptly at 2:30 p.m.

Manager John Schoonover announced last night that Chet Lucik will do the hurling for Pocono A. C., as the two clubs meet for the second time this year. The first clash, at Gordon Giffels field, resulted in a 1-0 victory for Pocono A. C.

John Drew will do the catching, Danny Eppley will be at first base, Dewey Marthing, second base; Jimmy Werkheiser, shortstop; and Dick Miller, third base. Doug Schoonover will probably hold down left field, while Don Sweda roams in center and Dick Schaller takes charge of the right field acreage.

Rival Hurling
East Bangor's pitching department will probably be handled by either Charley Lawlor or Unger.

Pocono A. C. currently holds a one-half game edge over both East Bangor and Roseto who are tied for second place, one-half game off the pace.

Roseto's chances of moving into first place rest on the outcome of tomorrow's clash with Portland, on the latter's home field. Dick Pritchard, who narrowly missed a no-hitter against West Bangor recently, will undoubtedly do the hurling for Roseto, while George Keys is the logical choice to take the mound for Portland.

West Bangor will be seeking to break a fourth place deadlock with Portland while tackling Tatum, on the latter's home field, while Johnsonville and Stockertown are scheduled to do battle at Stockertown.

Cerdan Plaque Unveiled

Paris (AP) — A plaque to the memory of Marcel Cerdan, world's middleweight champion boxer, was unveiled yesterday at the Palais Des Sports—the Madison Square Garden of France.

Cerdan was killed in an air crash en route to the U.S., on Oct. 28, 1949.

Fifty Expected To Drive At Sunrise Speedway

Blackies—One of the largest crowds of the season is expected to witness tomorrow's stock car races here at Pocono Sunrise Speedway. More than 50 drivers have already registered with the East-Penn Racing Association—governing body of the track and at least another fifteen drivers will be on hand by race time, at 2:30 p.m.

Leading Pack
Leading the pack will be feature winners, Joe Cryan, Ox-

ford, N. J., Jack Brewer, Easton and Charles Hansler, Kresgeville. Cryan holds the track record of 7:56 for the eight-mile jaunt while Brewer and Hansler are top stock jockeys with years of experience to back them up. Brewer is currently leading the pack in total points scored. He has a semi-final and two qualifying wins to his credit in addition to coping last week's feature. Last year he finished third behind Ray Fleming, Bethlehem, and George Sleight, Easton, in the battle for top point honors. He won four main events in '50 and should easily top that mark this year.

Among the other top men who have registered for tomorrow's events are Don Natt and Bill Hope of Sugarloaf, Pa., Charles Cregar of Phillipsburg, N. J., Otto Harwic, Fred Fehr, Charles McIntyre, Harry Charles and Jim Amato, Easton.

Full Slate For Mountain Loop

Ten Pocono Mountain league teams swing into action on five different fronts tomorrow, as the circuit holds its regular Sunday slate of games. Each contest is scheduled to get underway at 2 p.m.

Undefeated Kunkletown will risk its perfect slate at Tannersville, where a once beaten club will try to do what four other rivals failed to do during the early going of the present campaign.

Other Battles
Readers, defending regular season and playoff title holder, will invade the home domain of Barrett, while Anomink plays at Pocono Lake.

West End A. C. will attempt to break a two-game losing streak at Saylorsburg, while Lake Harmony takes on Tobyhanna, on the latter's home diamond.

Meyer Fined For Inciting Trouble

Brooklyn, (AP) — Russ Meyer, hot-tempered Philadelphia pitcher, yesterday was fined $50 for his rhaburh with Brooklyn's Jackie Robinson.

The penalty was assessed for Meyer's "challenging action," and for "inciting trouble."

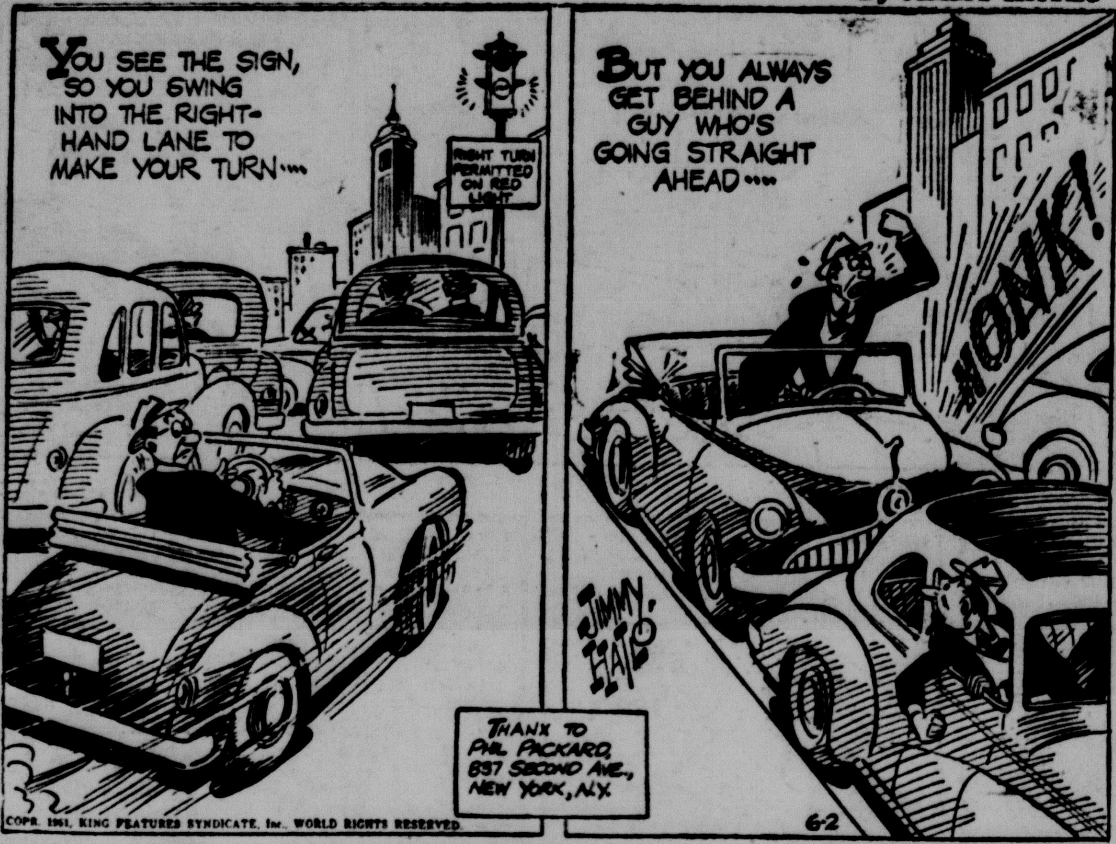

Near Blows
No action was taken against Robinson.

The players nearly came to blows several times Thursday night after Meyer had dropped the ball and permitted Robinson to score in the eighth inning on a run-down play. That run proved to be the winning one in the Dodgers' 4-3 victory. There was some bumping on the play.

NOTICE TO BIDDERS

Sealed bids will be received by the Borough of Stroudsburg for painting the Slugs Drying House at the Stroudsburg Sewage Treatment Works.

Copies of the specifications may be examined at the office of the Borough Secretary in the Municipal Building, Stroudsburg, Pa.

Each proposal shall be accompanied by a certified check in the amount of $100.00 drawn in favor of the Borough of Stroudsburg. The certified check will be retained as liquidated damages in case the successful bidder shall neglect or refuse to enter into a contract in accordance with his bid.

The successful bidder is required to furnish a Performance Bond in the amount of fifty per cent. (50%) of the contract, and a Labor and Material Bond in the amount of one hundred per cent. (100%) of the contract within ten days after the contract has been awarded and shall submit evidence of compliance with the Workmen's Compensation Laws of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and upon failure to execute a proper agreement or to furnish the bond within such time or to submit the evidence of compliance with the Workmen's Compensation Laws, the previous award shall be void.

No bidder may withdraw his bid within thirty days after the actual date of opening thereof.

Sealed bids must be in the hands of Harold E. Snyder, Borough Secretary, Municipal Building, Stroudsburg, Pa., not later than 7:30 o'clock P. M. on Friday, June 1, 1951. The time said bids will be opened and read in open session of Council in the Council Room of the Municipal Building.

The Borough reserves the right to reject any or all bids.

By Order of the Borough Council
HAROLD E. SNYDER, Borough Secretary

Bank Signs Lease At Tobyhanna

Tobyhanna — The First National Bank of Scranton yesterday signed a lease for one year with a five-year renewal clause for quarters for the branch bank. It proposes to found here to serve this community, the U. S. Army Signal Corps depot and resort interests of the Poconos.

The lease is renewable year by year for a period of five years for the quarters which are now deemed to be temporary quarters for branch bank operations.

One-half of the first floor structure owned by William and Gertrude Flaherty was leased by the First National Bank. Other half of the first floor is now occupied by Flaherty's soda fountain. Top floor of the structure is occupied by Seasonal Sportswear, Inc.

Extensive remodeling operations will be instituted by First National Bank to provide modern banking facilities. Operations are expected to start July 1.

First National Bank of Scranton applied to the U. S. Treasury department for permission to establish a branch bank. Announcement of this move came shortly after Rep. Francis E. Walter (D-Easton) announced that a $30,000,000 Signal Corps depot employing some 5,000 civilian workers, would be located here on the old Military reservation.

In seeking the approval of the Treasury department and the comptroller of currency for a branch bank, First National officials emphasized that while the depot installation was a factor in their decision, it was by no means the determining factor.

They maintained that the First National believed that the resort industry in the Pocono regions has demonstrated that it has an unusual future for growth and expansion which will require additional banking facility services.

Soda Prices Drop Penny

Philadelphia (AP) — Soft drinks should go back to the old familiar nickel-a-bottle price in Pennsylvania, except in restaurants, says the Office of Price Stabilization.

Joseph McBryan, acting OPS director of Region Three, said the price should drop a penny a bottle as the result of the end of a State tax on the syrup which is the basis for the soft drinks.

The tax enacted several years ago, at the rate of a penny on each ounce of syrup, it expired Thursday after the State Legislature failed to reenact it into law.

The only exception to the five-cent price, McBryan said, in establishments which sell soft drinks as part of their food business, and are governed by OPS regulations for restaurants. In these places, the proprietor is permitted to charge a "reasonable" price based on his food costs.

All soft drinks bought from automatic dispensers should be sold at five cents per bottle, McBryan said.

However, Wilkes-Barre reported soft drink companies there are boosting the price 20 cents on a case of 24 bottles, virtually eliminating the savings resulting from the tax elimination.

The OPS regional office could not be reached for comment on the Wilkes-Barre report.

Health, Welfare Agencies Seek Public Support Of Bill Pending In Assembly

The drive to engage support for the local health administration law now in the House Committee on Health and Sanitation widened yesterday with local public health and welfare agency officials moving out to seek support from the citizenry.

Immediate aim is to win favorable committee action on the measure and have it reported to the House floor for favorable vote. Sen. Montgomery F. Crowe and Rep. John S. Shotwell have already been contacted with requests for support in behalf of the measure.

Known as House Bill 1310, the measure authorizes all counties, other than counties of the first class to form single or joint-county departments of health. Cities of first and second class are permitted to retain their health powers and health organizations.

A county department of health, defined as consisting of a board of health, a health director and a staff of employees, may be created by resolution of the county commissioners or by popular referendum, if the proposed department conforms to a county health administration plan drawn by the State Secretary of Health.

After a county department of health has been created, the county commissioners are required to appoint a board of health composed of doctors of medicine and laymen, and the board of health is required to appoint a health director who meets the qualifications prescribed by the State Department of Health.

In the case of joint-county departments of health, the function of the county commissioners is carried out by a "joint county health commission" consisting of the county commissioners of all the participating counties meeting together. Each of the counties must be adjacent to at least one of the other participating counties.

It seems likely, observers said here yesterday, the joint-county department would be the most reasonable set-up for Monroe county.

The jurisdiction of the county department of health extends throughout the county or counties

Board Officers Draft Advice

Selective Service board officials here advised yesterday that students who were issued tickets for the so-called "college deferment" tests, and who were then unable to take the examination, should immediately carry out these instructions:

They should promptly write to the Selective Service Examining section, Educational Testing Service, P. O. Box 586, Princeton, N. J., explaining the circumstances which prevented their taking the examination. They must also return their ticket of admission, if available.

A new ticket will be issued for a later date in deserving cases. Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, director of Selective Service in United States, issued the instructions to all local boards.

Brighten Awnings

Faded awnings may be given a new lease of life by dyeing them or painting them with ordinary house paint which should be thinned with one-fourth turpentine. Paint should be brushed out thin and left to dry thoroughly before the awning is folded.

Mill Boosts Price Of Newsprint

Washington (AP) — Sen. Edwin C. Johnson (D-Colo.) urged Price Administrator Michael V. DiSalle yesterday to resist "with everything we have" a newsprint price increase announced by a Canadian company.

"If permitted to go through and if it spreads to the whole industry, which it will unless blocked, the newspapers of this country will be compelled to shell out an additional tribute of 300 million to 400 million dollars annually," Johnson wrote DiSalle.

Johnson, chairman of the Senate Commerce committee, referred to an announcement by Abitibi, large Canadian newsprint producer, that it was raising the price of newsprint $10 a ton.

"This unjustified price gouge by our Canadian neighbors should be resisted with everything we have," Johnson said.

The senator recalled that DiSalle had written him about two weeks ago that he regarded a report that newsprint prices would be advanced $9 a ton as "merely a rumor."

DiSalle also told Johnson at the time that he had been assured by R. N. Fowler, the director of Defense Production authority in Canada, that there would be no price increase without advance notice.

Toronto, (AP) — Abitibi Power and Paper Co., Ltd., yesterday increased the price of its newsprint by $10 a ton, effective July 1, and there were indications that other companies, too, will shortly announce increases.

Abitibi's decision will make the price of its newsprint, New York base, $116 United States currency; with a Canadian base of $112, Canadian currency.

Two Estates Swell Treasury

Harrisburg (AP) — The death of two wealthy Pennsylvanians has swelled the Commonwealth's treasury by nearly $4,000,000 in inheritance taxes.

The estate of the late William L. Mellon, Pittsburgh financier, paid $2,998,291 in State inheritance taxes. The other $950,000 came from the estate of the late Samuel L. Fels, Philadelphia soap manufacturer.

Rates Hearings Open Monday At Court House In Milford

Milford, Pa.—Increased rates of the Delaware Valley Telephone Co. will be attached at Public Utility commission hearings scheduled for the Court House here next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. The rates, effective since January 1, have been under attack both before and during their effective period.

They have been declared "unreasonable, exorbitant, discriminatory and unjust" in protests filed by Lewis E. Miller, Orville Nearing, Arthur B. Howe, Lynn Lewis, Jackson McCann, Barton V. Hillard, John C. Warner Jr. and Jonas Anchel.

All are prominent Milford and Pike county citizens. Howe is president of the powerful Pike County association and Warner is chairman of the First National Bank here. The protesters have requested that the increased rates be suspended pending "final determination of their reasonableness."

The Delaware Valley Telephone Co. serves Dingmans Ferry region as well as Milford and vicinity.

Also scheduled for a hearing before the PUC examiner here is the application of the Modern Omnibus & Service Co., Inc. for additional rights to transport persons between Monroe and Pike counties.

yesterday in a revenue report for the two-year fiscal period ended Thursday.
